Foreword

Somewhere within the infinite realm of time there lies a perpetual question mark—Tomorrow. The eternal progression of time incorporates the experiences of the Past with thoughts of the Present and formulates the Future. Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow . . .

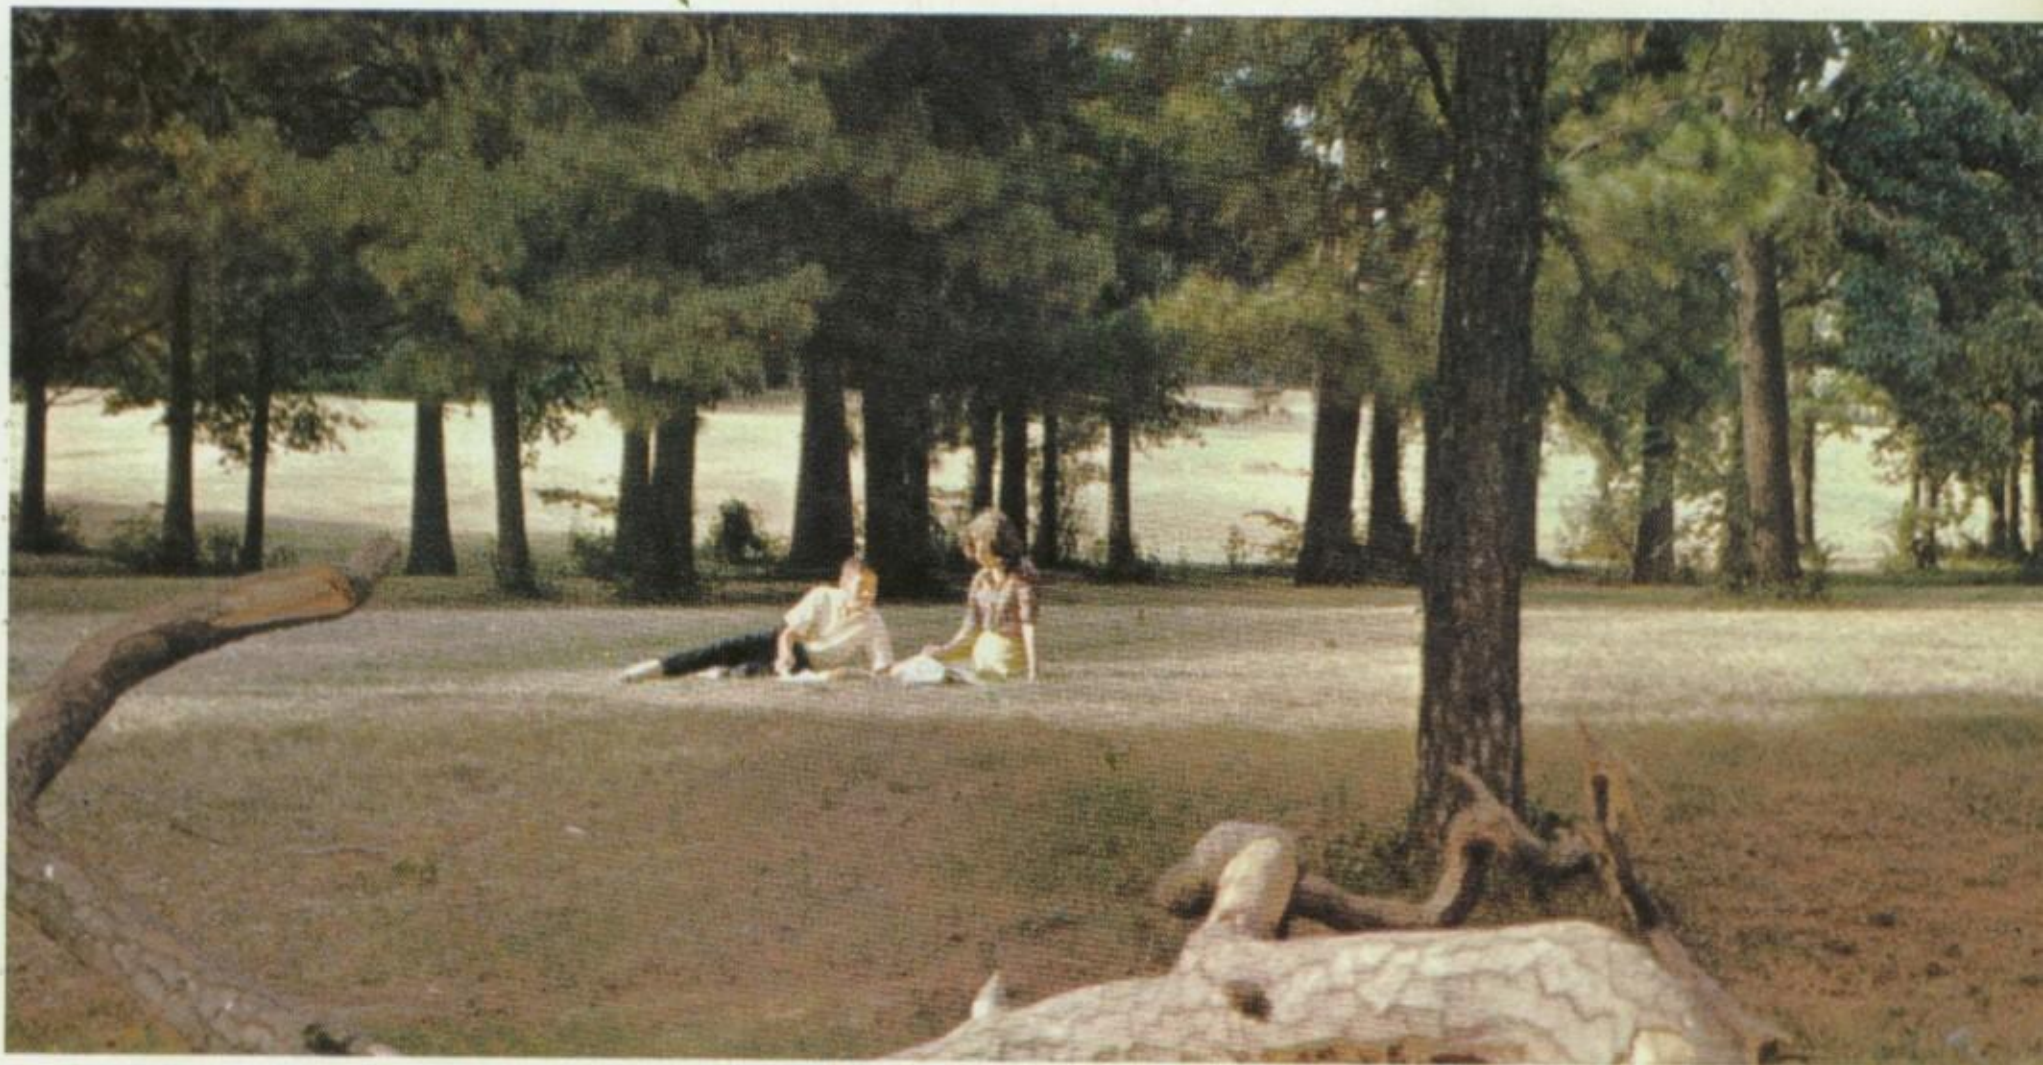

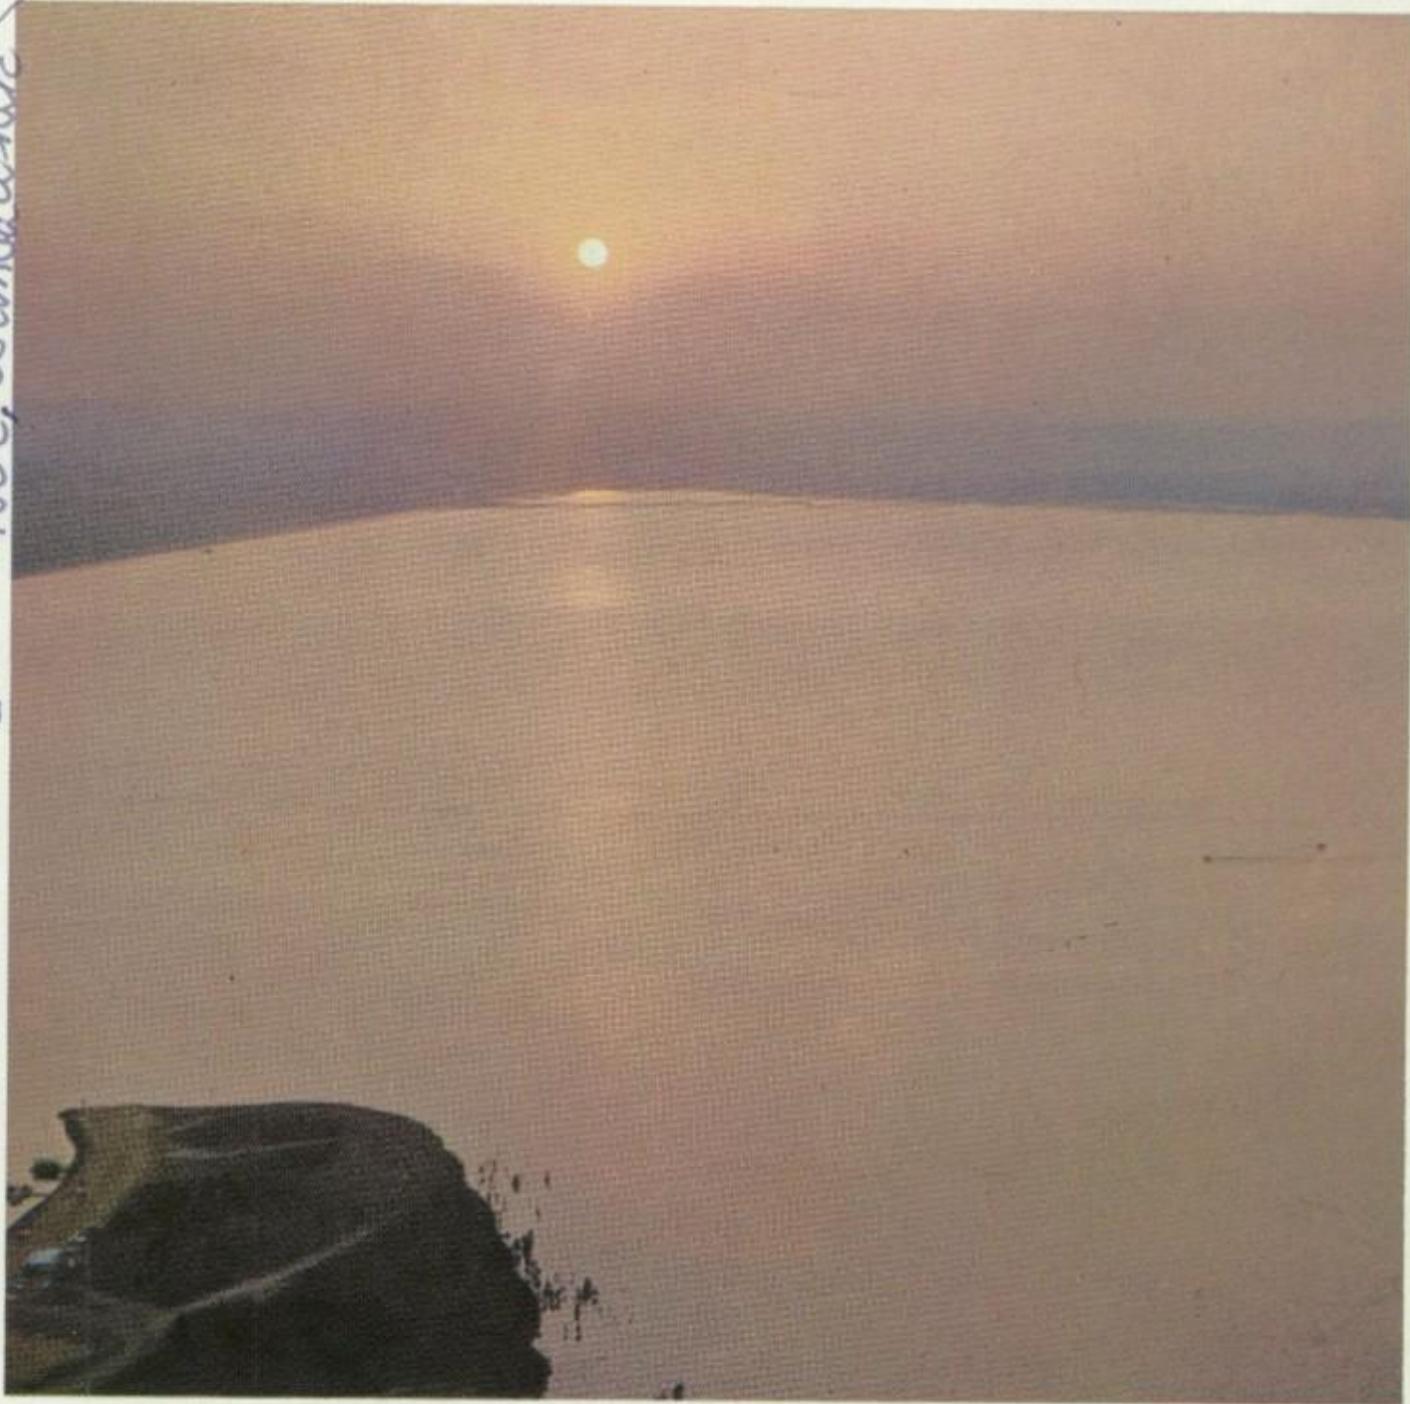

Opportunity, challenge, and responsibility are synonymous with the future. Now is the time and the place for learning how to accept and adapt; it is singularly the individual's obligation to learn this lesson well.

In some tomorrow we must set forth from this, our today, to fulfill our responsibilities and to follow our separate paths. In this step forward will come the opportunity and the necessity to assimilate all our knowledge.

This then is the purpose of the 1966 Aries—to envision the Future by presenting a profile of the Past and the Present.

Provine High School has been our Yesterday, it is now our Today, and it is the key to our TOMORROW.

I can't bring to tell you how much I have enjoyed become your friend this year
I only wish it could have been sooner. You are a real cute and sweet girl with a marvelous personality. May your days in the future be bright and happy always. God Bless and keep you always. Love, Wanda White

Administration Charts Busy Agenda for '66

Serving as an example of authority and dignity were Provine's two most important administrators, the principal and the assistant principal. As the largest school in the state Provine offered many administrative responsibilities and problems, but these capable men rose to prove that the faith placed in them was well justified.

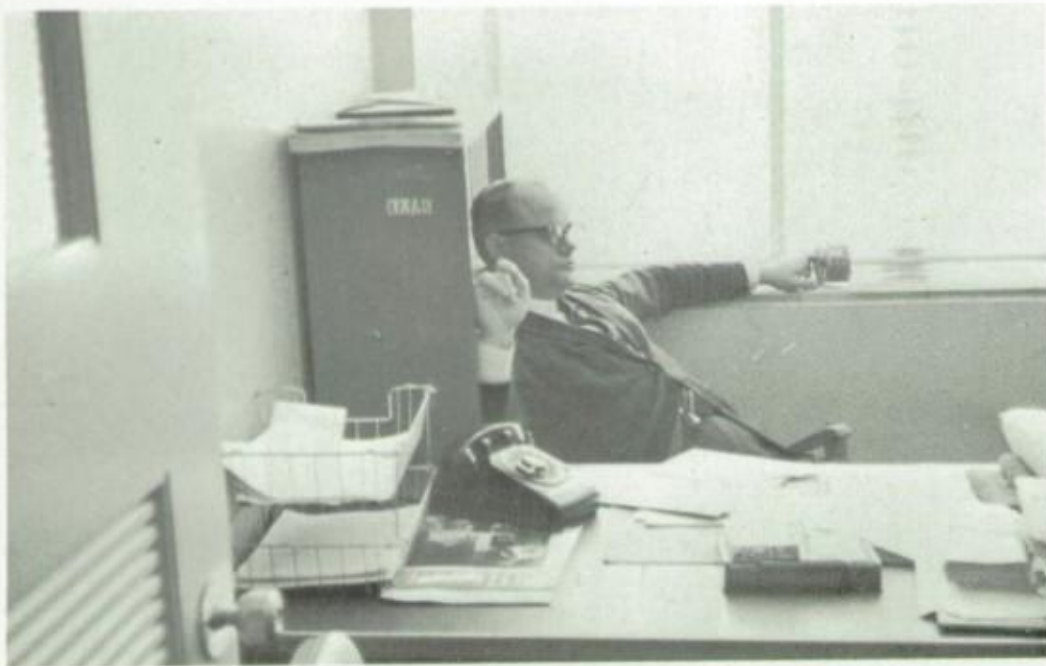

Much of Provine's success as a school of highest academic quality was attributed to the Jackson School Board, headed by Dr. Kirby Walker. Working in cooperation with the City Council, the Mayor and Jackson's two new commissioners, the School Board served as the highest authority in the city's educational affairs and helped develop its school system to the highest degree of efficiency.

Counselor Mr. Burnside rests after the early pressures of another school year.

Mr. Bilbro works at the tedious task of filing, while fellow counselor Mr. Lundquist wiles away the hours on the telephone.

Counselors Attend National Conventions

Providing proper guidance and direction for 1800 students was Provine's counseling department, one of the school's most vital programs. In preparation for meeting the problems of such a large student body, several of the counselors attended summer conventions. Mr. Ken Lundquist attended the National Association of Student Councils and the Mississippi Association of Student Councils. Mr. O. D. English, as vice-president of the Jackson Education Association, attended the National Education Association in New York City. Mr. Jim Burnside, a mathematics teacher as well as counselor, taught calculus at Belhaven College. The department, headed by Mr. W. J. Bilbro, greatly contributed to the efficiency and academic quality of the school.

Secretaries Perform With Eager Diligence

Providing the backbone of Provine's organizational structure and making it a more efficient body were the school's three secretaries—Mrs. Mary Baggett, secretary to the counselors; Mrs. Mildred Thomas, secretary to the assistant principal; and Mrs. Mary Roberts, secretary to the principal. Keeping the offices of such a large school operating smoothly was a tremendous task for only three secretaries and their student assistants, but it was a task accomplished well by these capable secretaries. They were certainly an essential part of the faculty, for their constant efforts were an example to teachers, as well as student body.

As one of her many duties, Mrs. Baggett arranges an appointment with a counselor for a student needing advice.

Librarians Render Prerequisite Service

Instilling in all students a love for books and an enjoyment of reading were Provine's librarian and assistant librarian, Mrs. Eaton and Mrs. Anderson. As a part of their duties these capable workers helped train student assistants who were interested in library work. Patiently guiding all pupils in their efforts to select books and find needed information, the librarians helped many students come to know the wonder of books.

English Inspires Literary Creativeness

As one of the largest departments at Provine, the English department gained even more new teachers this year—Miss Evelyn Barron, Mrs. Edna Crews, Mr. Ed Hewlett, and Mrs. Betty Wade. In addition to these new teachers, some of Provine's former teachers progressed toward advanced degrees. Miss Ruth Wallace completed several courses at Millsaps College, while Mr. Hewlett began work on his Master's Degree at Mississippi College. A vital part of the English program was the study of Shakespeare and his works by sophomores and seniors. Once again the importance of reading was stressed through book reports and outside projects as each student began to develop a sense of individual learning.

Mrs. McClendon lectures to her junior English class on Feathertop, a classic American tale, while Mr. Hewlett elaborates on MacBeth, as his senior English classes begin Shakespeare's masterpiece.

Math Challenges

Reasoning of Students

Mathematics, the universal language of the sciences, was given special emphasis at Provine this year. For the first time, students who had already studied advanced math were given the opportunity to take an accelerated mathematics course. Completing the curriculum of this well-rounded department were geometry, algebra I and II, and basic math.

With new books and additional material this department kept pace with the rapidly changing world. Students who had a keen interest in math were encouraged to attend the early morning math classes, which were held before school. The mathematics department proved itself a most progressive one throughout the past year.

Science Offers Study and Research

Provine's science department offered students an opportunity to investigate the mystic wonders of the intricate world in which they live. Teaching found a new approach as Mrs. Mary Calvert led her chemistry students into a field of research and experiment supplementing the standard book and lecture method.

A new addition to the science faculty was Mrs. Sally Wilkins, a biology teacher who graduated from the University of Mississippi last year. Also completing more studies in her field was Miss Bobbie Collum who studied advanced placement chemistry at Loyola University. Through new teaching methods and early morning classes, the science department was able to interest more students in future scientific careers.

Current Events Star Social Studies Course

Boosting the social studies faculty to an even dozen were Mr. Mathew Johnson, a Provine graduate, and Mr. M. K. Bruss, a member of the Board of Directors of the Mississippi Historical Society and News Editor of the Journal of Mississippi History. Bringing recognition to this department was Mrs. Frances Coker, who was awarded a scholarship by the Institute for Student Exchange of the East-West Center at the University of Hawaii.

Enrollment in the social studies department was greatly increased this year by a new state law making government a required course for high school graduation. Through the department's efforts, students became more aware of their place in the changing world.

Pupils Uncover a World of Language

In an effort to improve the foreign language department by increasing their knowledge of foreign culture, two of Provine's Latin teachers, Mrs. Jane Bender and Mrs. Virginia Suttle, participated in European tours last summer. Mrs. Bender, who toured Italy and Sicily as a part of the Virgilian Society of Summer Studies, traveled on a Rotary Scholarship, while Mrs. Suttle participated in the Mississippi Educational Tour of Europe.

A comprehensive program of foreign languages, including three years of Spanish and two years of French supplemented by educational trips, was offered, providing an opportunity for all students interested in studying the language and culture of other countries.

Music Instills Appreciation of Arts

With the advent of new faculty member, Mr. Higdon Kenney, the music department experienced a major change this year. Mr. Kenney, who became director of the concert band, stage band, and orchestra, greatly contributed to the music program by coupling his talents and efforts with those of Mr. Charles Richey, a teacher of choral music and director of the concert choir. His contributions were exemplary of those of each faculty member as he stimulated the cultural growth of each individual student.

Pen, Paint Stress Creative Imaginations

Comprising an important part of the electives program at Provine were the art and journalism departments. Promoting development of students' creative interests, they provided outlets for some of the school's most outstanding talent, as exemplified in various art exhibits throughout the year and in the work of the Rambler staff. Sponsored by Mrs. Mary Tom Bradley, the Rambler was an important outgrowth of the journalism department and, along with the school's other publication, was a source of pride for each student.

Electives Stimulate Professional Interests

Preparing Provine students for their future work in life were three of the most popular electives departments—typing, homemaking, and speech. Increased interest in the commercial department was so great that a typing club was added to its functions in order to teach the basic skills of this subject to those students who could not work typing into their regular curriculum. Once again a special child care course was offered to senior girls through the homemaking department while drama and debate were stressed as a part of the speech program training each student to communicate better with his fellow man.

Seniors Linda Moore, Laurie Limbaugh, and Sam Nichols learn typing techniques, which will help them in writing their term papers.

Stressing improved physical fitness, the physical education program offered a welcome change of pace and a period of relaxation and exercise to students. Head football coach Ed Reed, who brought the new Notre Dame box formation to the football team, joined Mrs. Harpole and Coach Shook as gym instructors this year. Through their instruction students were able to learn the fundamentals of various sports and improve their physical fitness. Participation by boys on the school varsity teams and by girls in the various intramurals fostered a spirit of healthy competition as each student learned good sportsmanship and team cooperation.

Staffs Provide Competent Services

Constantly serving Provine and its students were its cafeteria workers and custodians. Responsible for the cleanliness and comfort of the building's facilities, the janitorial workers devoted long hours each week to carry out their duties to the fullest extent. The cafeteria workers labored equally hard to provide appetizing, balanced meals. Their efficient work solved the problem of a small cafeteria serving a large number of students and helped develop a pleasant atmosphere in the lunchroom. Indeed, the atmosphere of the entire school was made more conducive to learning by its brilliant spotlessness.

Provine students are assisted in the cafeteria by Mrs. D. Gibson, Mrs. K. Webb, Mrs. N. Bowie, Mrs. C. Heckman, and Mrs. M. Buckley.

Aries Adopts New Look for '66

Presenting a comprehensive view of the many activities which comprise a complete year at Provine, the Aries staff worked for many months to preserve a few of the memories which became a part of the life of each individual student. In their efforts to capture the spirit of Provine, the staff strived to picture faculty as well as students and extracurricular activities along with academics. Through state and national scholastic press association conventions and a special trip to Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas, Texas, the staff worked to improve their skills and to serve better the student body.

Putting the finishing touches on the junior class section are Mildred Crawford and Gail Doty.

Junior members of the Aries staff are Derryl Peden and Alton Waggener.

Photographers Mike Hughes, Mike Weems, and Hubert Worley work together to make the year's activities memorable.

Scribes Foster Interest in Creativity

Proving their originality and ability of Provinians, the Palladian was an example of student initiative and hard work. Throughout the last semester the staff labored to present the school with the best writings of Provine authors. Various types of composition were carefully reviewed by the staff and then by qualified judges. The result was a collection of the best in student literature.

The Creative Writing Club was another organization seeking to provide incentive for the creativity of Provine's students. Members contributed individual works which were compiled at the end of the year in order that a group study and critical analysis could be made.

The business staff for the Palladian are Peggy McElveen, Karen Graham, Troy Brooks. Standing: Douglas Frazier, Buddy Potter, business manager; Robert Estess.

Guiding the 1966 Palladian staff are Mrs. Mary Davis, advisor; Lynette Henderson, editor; Mrs. Sonia Walters, advisor. Standing: Gail Hodges, assistant editor; Danni Young, assistant editor.

Working hard to produce the 1966 Palladian are senior editorial staff members Judy Tullos, Jeannie Gouras, Ann Deas, Vicki Farr. Standing: Sherry Young, Woodie Sherman, John Schutt, Joan Purvis.

Rambler Cops Journalistic Honors

Pressing for a progressive Province, the 1966 Rambler staff endeavored to eclipse former Pacemaker traditions with seniors Nancy Brooks and Dave McAlister at the helm. With vigorous journalistic efforts, twelve editions resulted focusing on all school activities. Although subscription sales were somewhat less than previous years, the student body avidly backed the Rambler in many other endeavors.

The Rambler's Who's Who again dominated the early spring as eighty-six personalities were exalted by the call of fame.

Sophomores found their way onto the staff as years of discrimination were reversed.

Cajoleas Cops MASC Presidency

At Provine, as in any society, government plays an important role (the only difference being that a student council has more symbolic significance than a sovereign ruling body).

The Ram Student Council met each Monday at activity period to chart student body policy and to compromise it with that of the administration. The council, while serving in the executive capacity as president of MASC, reversed a major '64 decision and voted to support TAP again this year.

Council representatives traveled over 2,000 miles to workshops and conventions, and in the process they emphasized the name of Provine at the forefront of student government.

MAΘ Hosts State Wide Confab

Throughout the twelve years of its existence, the Provine chapter of Mu Alpha Theta has established and continued a tradition of excellence. Yearly the chapter is recognized by the national organization with certificates of award for its outstanding work.

The highlight of the 1966 session was the volunteer hosting of the second annual state convention. This confab, held on January 22, brought to Provine almost 250 delegates from all parts of the state and distinguished speakers, such as Dr. Kenneth Wagner, Mr. S. R. Knox, and Dr. Roy D. Sheffield.

The Mu Alpha Theta's successful year again illustrated Mrs. Latta's maxim that an organization is as good as its members.

NHS Gathers Intellectual Elite

Providing Provine scholars with an opportunity to become acquainted with other honor students, the NHS encouraged Provinians throughout the year to maintain high grades and develop leadership interests. Creating a purpose for study, it endowed the students with an enthusiastic attitude toward learning.

Erudite initiates became members in a formal ceremony before standing members and a featured guest speaker. Later in the year all participants were given the opportunity to attend the annual convention held in Biloxi. As a result of NHS activities, honor students developed a more acute awareness of their opportunities and responsibilities in tomorrow's world.

JHS Lends Historical Influence

Provine's chapter of the Mississippi Junior Historical Society was one of the largest and most active in the state. The monthly meetings were only a small part of the year's activities. Also, there were local tours, antique showings, oral history projects, tape recording exchanges, and a fine arts festival. A club newsletter kept the members informed of these many activities.

In order to reach more people on a closer basis, the JHS was sub-divided into three areas of interest: (1) The International Club to stress world affairs, (2) The Americana Club—concerned with America and her history, and (3) the Louis Le Fleur Heritage Club to deal with Mississippi and items of local interest.

Q & S Exalts Journalistic Talents

Working to instill a love for good literature in each of its members was Provine's Purser Hewitt Chapter of Quill and Scroll. Commencing the year's activities was the annual initiation banquet at which the nationally renowned J. Edgar Simmons expounded on creativity and inspiration. Other equally distinguished speakers entertained the club at the regular monthly meetings, producing a year of enjoyable and educational activities.

Working toward the same goal as the Quill and Scroll was the Aries Club, composed of Aries staff members and other interested students. Through it, members not on the annual staff were able to obtain valuable insight into yearbook production.

JETS Emphasize Scientific Principles

Students wishing to explore the fields of engineering found JETS a rewarding venture. This year's projects included a Big-Brother Week when members had a chance to visit several local industries, Engineering Week, a banquet, and participation in the state convention. Programs by guest speakers or club members enriched the minds of future engineers and stimulated Province's interest in science.

Another club working toward the encouragement of future vocations was the Future Architects Club. Throughout the year members examined the fine points of design, drafting, and surveying, thereby developing their interest and ability in the fascinating field of architecture.

Councils Lead Worthy Endeavors

Meeting each year to promote safety in school and at home was this year's Safety Council, striving to discover new methods of preventing unnecessary accidents. These preventative methods called for well-stocked safety kits in each homeroom, injury reports, and the annual Safety Week. Through such efforts the council was able to instill a sense of safety responsibility in each student.

Provine's chapter of the American Red Cross began work this year with a membership drive during which students contributed money and thereby became members of the organization. Projects undertaken throughout the remainder of the year included participation in first-aid courses, working in local hospitals, and filling gift boxes for disaster-stricken areas.

Debaters Win Southern Forensic

Riding the crest of last year's triumphs at the Southern Forensic in Durham, North Carolina, and South Mississippi at Hattiesburg, the Provine debaters concentrated their endeavor on two resolutions, "Resolved: that the Federal Government should prohibit the requirement of union membership as a condition of employment" and "Resolved: that the federal government should adopt a program of compulsory arbitration in labor-management disputes in basic industries."

Attracted by the promise of good competition, the orators qualified by an overall "B" average, journeyed to tournaments in Meridian, Memphis, Mobile, Miami, University of Southern Mississippi, Mississippi State University, and the Univeristy of Mississippi.

FHA Spices Homemaking Course

This year for the first time membership in the Future Homemakers of America was opened not only to homemaking students, but to all Provine girls. Each member was introduced to the fact that she belonged to a national association, and the organization's activities were based on the national program of work.

With a theme of "Building for the Future," participants in FHA explored the many fields of home economics. State colleges offering courses in this area were investigated by trips, tours, and speakers.

Planning their lives for the future, the FHA girls worked to maintain the objectives of their organization.

Careers Become Foundation of Clubs

Students interested in the field of education obtained valuable experience and information in the Future Teachers Club. Counselors and other visiting speakers added interest to the club by giving the teachers-to-be an opportunity to become better acquainted with the requirements of the field of education and the opportunities open to members of the teaching profession.

Aspiring students were provided with assistance in preparing for a rewarding career of nursing in the Future Nurses Club. Trips taken to local hospitals and nursing schools, along with participation in the volunteer summer nurses program, gave the members valuable aid in planning for future positions as nurses.

Clubs Spark Language Curriculum

With a small selective membership the French Honor Society was another of Provine's organizations with emphasis on scholastic achievement. Sponsoring the annual sale of French Christmas cards and correspondence with French pen pals, the society helped develop a love of French culture among its members.

La Junta de Amigos, Provine's Spanish Club, sought to impart to its members a knowledge of the language and customs of the twenty one Spanish-speaking countries. Weekly programs featuring Spanish speaking personalities and a trip to New Orleans to study Spanish influence in that city developed in members a greater appreciation and understanding of our Spanish heritage.

Y-Teens Train in Community Service

Sponsored by the Young Women's Christian Association, the Y-Teen Club helped to bring Christian ideals to its members through inspirational programs, guest speakers, and club projects.

Highlights of the year were the annual potato chip sale, in which all Y-Teens participated, and the adoption of a needy child as the club project. Through the efforts of the YWCA and the Y-Teen Club, the members were able to lend a helping hand in worthwhile charity projects. By helping in these projects, each girl grew as a person, in friendship, and in the knowledge and love of God.

Hi-Y Supports Improvement Week

Participating in activities helpful to home, school, and community, the Hi-Y Club engaged in projects in a manner characteristic of past clubs. Sponsoring Provine Improvement Week, a project designed to beautify the school's outward appearance, was one of their many beneficial fund-raising campaigns. Through the annual Hi-Y Legislature members participated in activities conducive to the understanding of law-making processes. The summer convention of nation wide delegates provided an occasion for the making of long lasting friendships. During this year each member, through his active participation in these activities, exemplified true spirit and Christian character.

Guild Instills Theatrical Arts

"Show Biz at Provine was represented by the efforts of the Thespians, the Theatrical Honor Society, and the Theatre Guild. Membership in the Thespians was limited to those students who were able to meet the 100-hour dramatic requirement. In addition to participating in several dramatic plays, these club members became familiar with acting techniques and various stage terms.

The Theatre Guild consisted of four main divisions: stagecraft, make-up, publicity, and acting and directing. All members participated on the various committees, helping with both on-stage and off-stage activities. Each person worked through participation to increase his knowledge and ability in the many fields of dramatics.

Batons, Horns Offer Modes of Enjoyment

Complementing the band with poise and beauty, Provine's majorettes maintained their precision by diligent practice. Each weekly session was devoted to learning improved techniques for their entertaining performances at football games and other school activities. As proof of their success, they won numerous awards and the admiration of many audiences.

Long a part of the Provine band tradition, the Stage Band proved throughout the year its diversified abilities in this special realm of music. In concerts and performances and at dances and other programs, the members demonstrated their skill and working together to produce excellent quality.

Music Attracts Devoted Followers

With Mr. Higdon Kenney conducting, the Provine orchestra explored new realms of music in the contemporary as well as the classical field. Working in small ensembles, they discovered for themselves new domains of instrumental development, which they were able to exercise in their performances.

By studying the lives of famous composers, acquiring knowledge of their styles and developments, and examining their various techniques of compositions, the Music Appreciation Club increased the admiration of its members for the great masters. To further their appreciation of music, a detailed research of outstanding men and women of this field was contributed by the members, climaxing the year's program.

Band Continues Superb Performance

Jack Jones is gone—but the years of excellence of the Provine marching band did not go with him.

Welcoming new director Mr. Higdon Kenney (Crystal Springs), the band double-timed its way again into the hearts of all Rams by rendering superb performances at every outing.

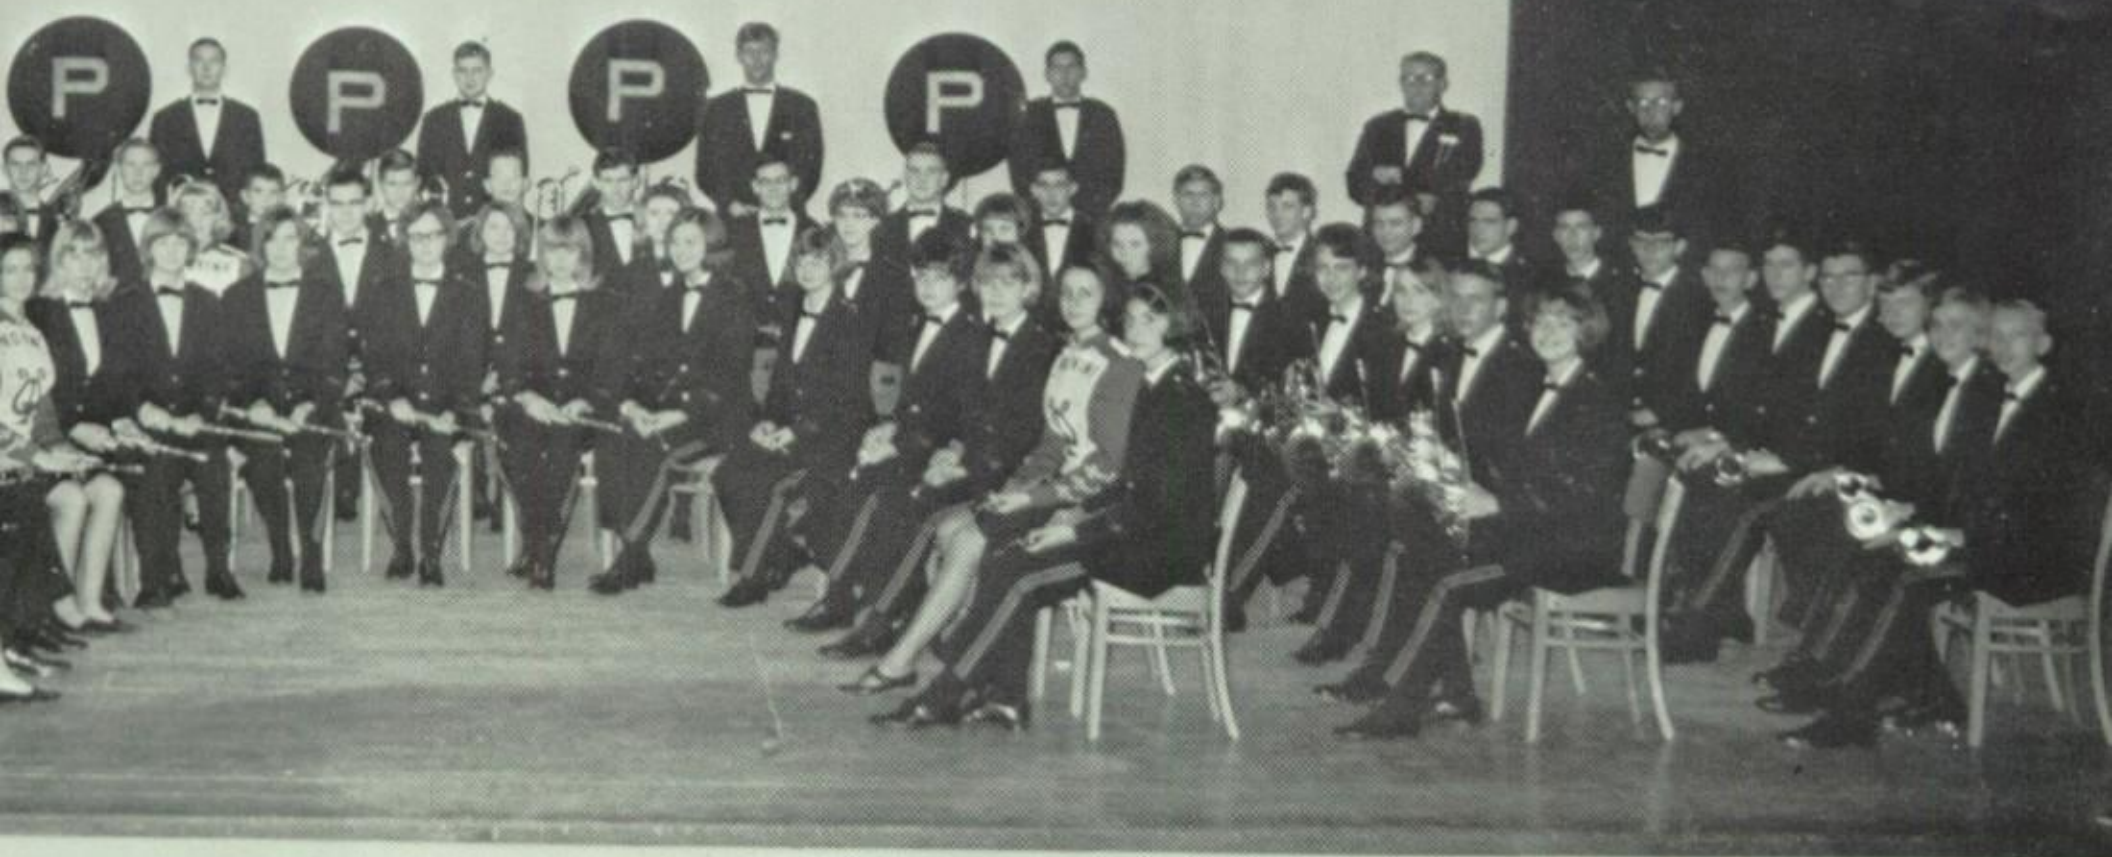

Enid, Oklahoma, the mecca of high school music, again beckoned as the marching Ram-ninety journeyed to protect their '65 claim to the sweepstakes award.

Rams remembered always that their band was tops—by opinion and performance.

Melodies Spring Eternal From Choir

Under the direction of Mr. Charles Richey, the Provine Concert Choir sang its way to honor and recognition. A varied repertoire from the classical greats and modern contemporaries gave voice to many expressive concerts. Performances were given for various civic clubs and churches during the year, and programs were presented for colleges and other organizations while the choir was on tour. Special Christmas and Easter concerts inspired both the singers and their audiences. With hours of diligent practice the choir found itself becoming a fused body which sang not only by voice, but also by soul and mind.

Clubs Provide Outlet for Interests

Discussions on art appreciation, new mediums, and students' works characterized the Wednesday meetings of the Art Club. Convincing proof of the club's progress was demonstrated by periodical exhibits in the display case. Through these activities art students increased their abilities and acquired a greater appreciation for the works of the masters.

The thrill that has kept alive the game of chess for thousands of years has proven that it is still potent, for chess found many followers in Provine. Whether playing or kibitzing, the members of the club were able to match their wits with schoolmates and the best players of other schools.

Sciences Draw Avid Participants

Through a program highlighted by field trips and active individual participation, the Advanced Science Club helped young science enthusiasts prepare for the future. By offering an opportunity for members to display their projects in local and district science fairs, experimental research was encouraged. Educational trips to the University Medical Center and the Hinds Junior College Observatory provided a well-rounded program of enjoyable learning.

Another club concerned with scientific study was a new club at Provine, the Rock and Mineral Club. Members participated by displaying their collections and giving reports on rocks, fossils, and minerals, thus increasing their knowledge and understanding of nature.

Library Offers Opportunity for Study

Serving a dual purpose of gaining experience while helping librarians in their never ending work, the Library Assistants learned how to contribute more fully to the education of their fellow students. Inspired by a love for books, they worked to instill in others this same eagerness. The statewide SLAM Convention afforded an occasion for workers to share ideas and learn from the experience of authorities.

Conscientious students found that the Study Club provided an incentive toward the development of good study habits. Through concentrated efforts members were able to improve their grades and prepare for college work.

Office Skills Find Useful Employment

Assisting Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Baggett, and Mrs. Thomas in the three main offices and acting as personal secretaries to the counselors were the duties of Provine's student office workers. Devoting a period each day to help in the offices these workers performed many tasks which helped make Provine a better and more efficient school.

As a new club this year, the Typing Club offered membership to those students who could not fit a regular typing period into their schedule. Allowing them to master this art at weekly intervals, it proved to be a beneficial addition to Provine's organizations.

Sports Augment Athletic Organizations

In its first year at Provine the Baseball Club prepared members for the coming season by teaching the fundamentals of America's favorite sport. Programs during the year consisted of films of the World Series highlights and reports by club members on all the major league teams. Through the efforts of this club spirit was boosted at games, and Provine's baseball team had another successful season.

With membership composed of Provine's athletic lettermen, the Athletic Club offered a program of films and discussions on different sports topics. Through these weekly meetings members profited by increasing their athletic ability and learning the value of sportsmanship.

Gym, Golf Engage Eager Participation

Provine's Golf Club, consisting of the golf team and other interested students, met weekly in an effort to improve the members' game. Instruction in the care and uses of clubs as well as trips from famous professionals were presented to the club weekly. Practice on the green, along with these instructions, helped make better golfers of Provine's amateur enthusiasts.

Stressing physical fitness and sportsmanship, the Gym Club offered students a period each week to relax in their favorite sports. Offering a wide range of activities, including basketball, football, and volleyball, the club helped members to become more proficient in these various types of sports.

Athletics Foster Interest, Responsibility

Completing an exciting action-filled year, the Tennis Club was again rewarded by the victories of the varsity team. Included in the club's activities were films and demonstrations which gave members the benefit of professional advice. Also in the schedule were discussions among the members designed to help each student find his weaknesses and correct them.

Senior girls who excelled in various athletics and were exemplary of good sportsmanship were honored with the office of Gym Assistant. Giving instructional advice they worked in cooperation with gym instructors to bring about a more coordinated body of girls.

Game, Fish Arouse Outdoor Enthusiasts

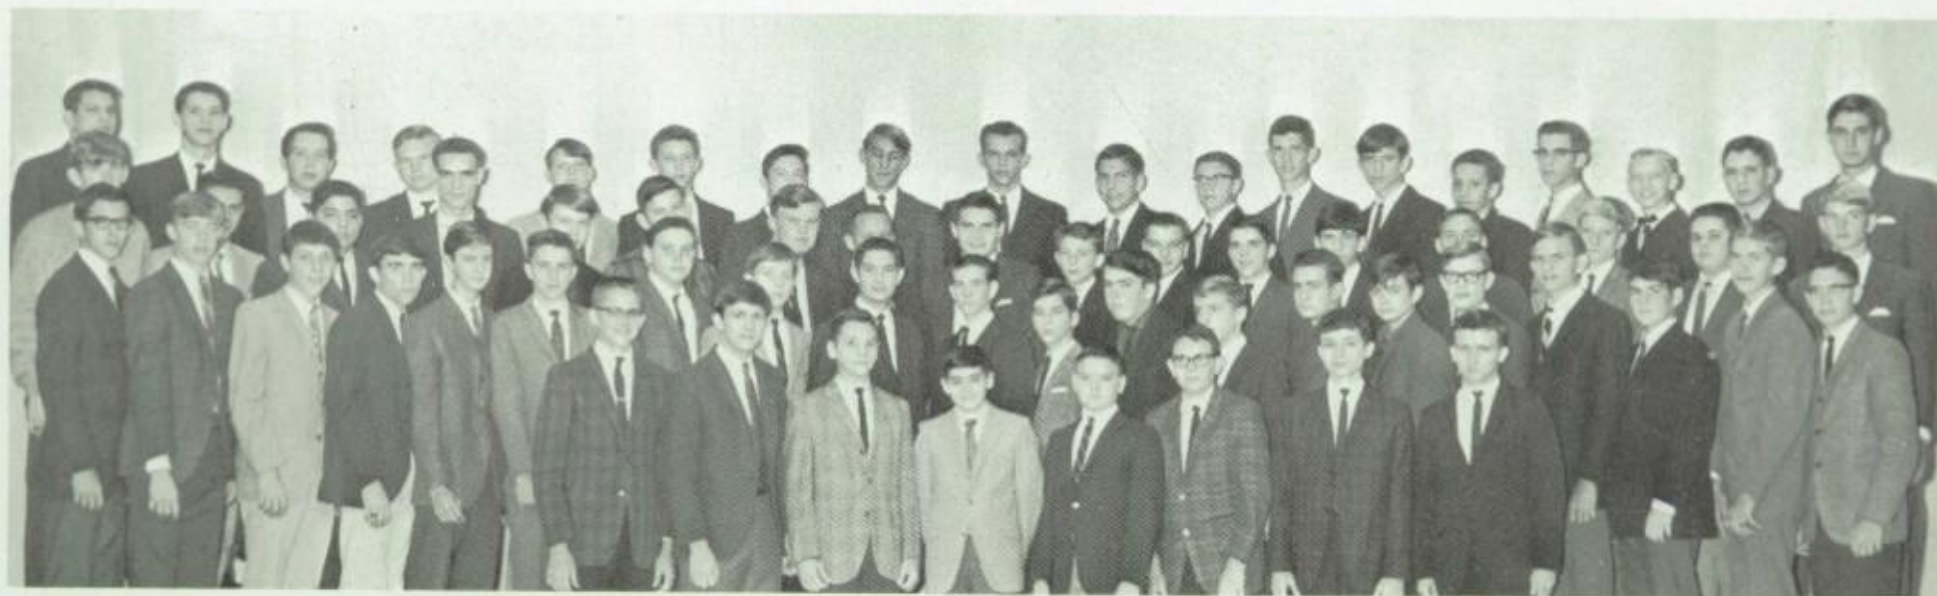

With vigorous and interesting programs, the Hunting and Fishing Club of Provine offered informative sessions each week on the subject of nature. Lively discussions highlighted each meeting and provided a bright sport on the members' school agenda. Stressing safety afield and on the water, the club emphasized correct use of firearms and other sports equipment. Through the use of films and speakers the members learned to appreciate and understand better their natural heritage. The Hunting and Fishing Club truly proved to be an invaluable asset to the sports-minded students at Provine.

JCL Boasts Membership of 400 +

For centuries classical languages have ingrained their influence on all men of knowledge. At Provine, the study of Latin, which began as a sparsely populated two-year course, has blossomed into a four year curriculum supported by a following of over 400 students.

The spirit of the classics has yearly advised JCL initiates what to expect from their classical studies. First year students drilled on construction, second explored Caesar, third emphasized Virgil, and fourth year translated Cicero.

JCL Travels to California Confab

Yearly the Provine chapter journeys to NJCL. In 1965 the confab was held at the University of Southern California where Nancy Brooks (Latin IV) captured third place in the national derivatives competition.

Provine delegates, traveling for three weeks, were also able to enjoy the scenery from Mississippi to California. Among their stops were Hollywood, Disneyland, the Dodgers versus the Mets, and the Grand Canyon.

Provine Centers Around Organizations

Just as division of labor is vital to a large corporation, organizations and clubs were vital to Provine. The school itself was composed of approximately forty various associations of different natures. The honor societies encouraged scholarship, the personal-interest clubs offered a chance for individual contribution, and the service clubs rendered inspiring impetus to school and community efforts.

In 1965 the band won Sweepstakes at Enid, Oklahoma, the cheerleaders won the Ole Miss Clinic, the debate team captured the Southern Forensic, and the student council en masse served as president of MASC.

We lived, we loved, we achieved, we envisioned—through our organizations.

Rams Boast Successful Season

Provine's eleven, the Cinderella team, rolled to a successful season highlighted by a final surge that carried them to five straight victories in which they scored 145 points.

Not to be forgotten was the perfect season of Provine's B-team Lambs. Such an impressive record promised future success in the forthcoming years.

Employing the expert guidance of the coaches, the Rams rejuvenated the Notre Dame Box and proved that history could repeat itself. The season was fittingly climaxed by a 13-6 victory over some North Jackson mules who just happened to be the Big Eight Champs.

We Tried, We Tried, We Tried

In the wake of hurricane Betsy the Rams' season opener against Pascagoula was spoiled by four costly fumbles and an interception. Although dominating statistics, the Rams managed only one score on Hartzog's 32 yard sprint. Capitalizing on Provine's mistakes, Pascagoula piled up four touchdowns for a 26-6 win.

Going into the game as heavy underdogs, the Rams dropped a 7-6 decision to number 1 ranked Gulfport, last year's Big Eight Champions. Late in the first half a 27 yard aerial from tailback Shanks to wingback Adams gave Provine a tally. The important PAT by Harris was blocked. Provine held firmly until the Commodores pushed through for seven points at the game's close.

In the Moss Point game tailback Bill Kron (31) leads his pursuers up the middle for a sizeable gain.

Co-captains David Litzdow (76) and Pete Cajoleas (22) confer with the Gulfport captains and the referees before the starting kick-off.

Generals Fall to Spirited Eleven

Looking for their initial win, the Provine Rams shocked the high-ranked Columbus Generals with a 17-0 upset. The first Ram score was in the second period when Mike Harris booted a nifty 23 yard field goal. In the third period General halfback Barnhall took the ball from the 14 yard line and tossed a pass; Derle Underwood intercepted and raced 93 yards for a touchdown. Tailback Don Shanks fired a touchdown strike from the seven to Underwood in the last quarter for the game's final score.

Rivals Capture Hard Earned Wins

In a rugged defensive battle against unbeaten McComb, Provine lost another heart-breaker 7-0. A penalty and a fumble cost dearly as they halted both of the Rams' major penetrations. The only score came in the third period as a Tiger back sped 44 yards for the score.

In a hard-fought intra-city clash, the Central Tigers defeated the Rams 24-7 before a crowd of 10,000 at Newell Field. Central struck early, capitalizing on a Ram fumble. The Rams found themselves in an uphill battle for the remainder of the game. Finally Provine came to life and drove eighty yards with tailback Shanks scoring on a one-yard plunge.

Wingback Brett Adams proves to the Columbus Generals that he is a hard man to come down.

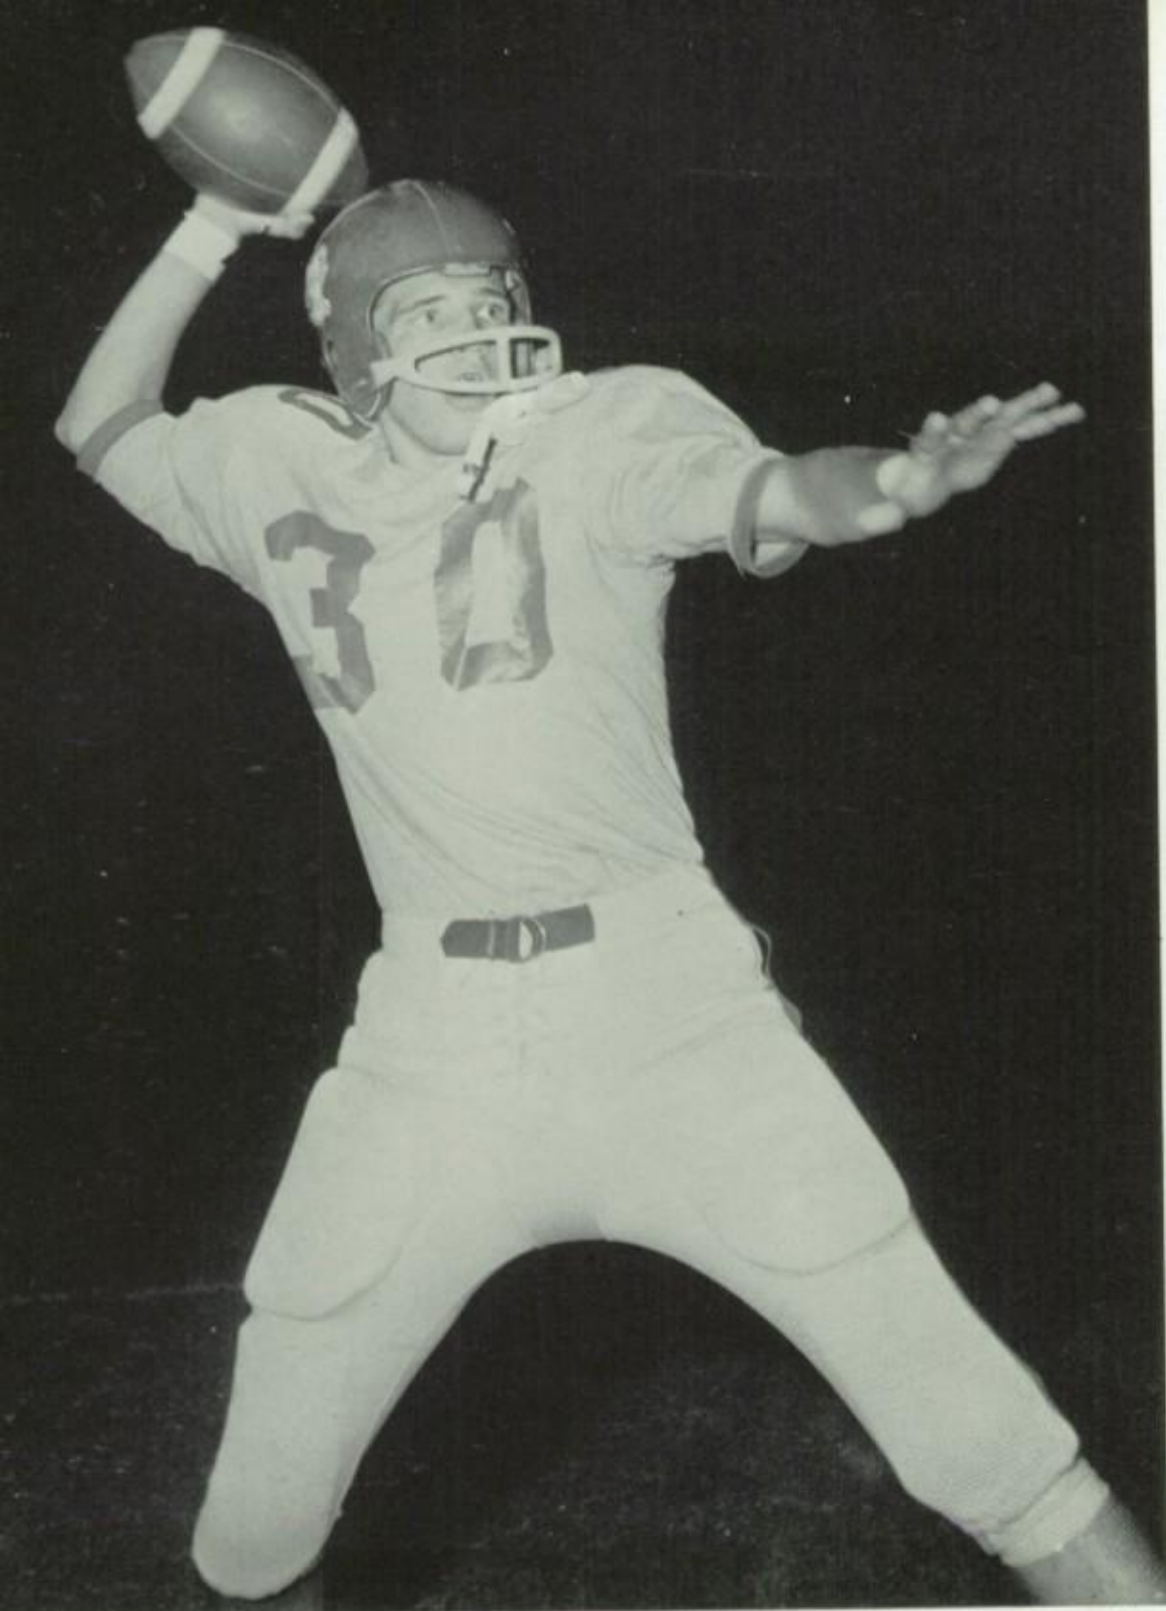

According to Moss Point, the Provine Rams are flying high.

Provine Tames Tigers and Panthers

For the second straight week Provine unleashed an awesome offense in a 42-7 defeat of the Moss Point Tigers. Shanks scored three first half touchdowns on runs of one, one, and three yards. In the third period Shanks and tailback Hartzog combined for two touchdowns that were followed by a 28 yard TD pass to end Sloan in the fourth period. Mike Harris added six extra points to complete the Rams' scoring.

Loyal Rams watched Provine ramble to a 29-13 victory over the Brookhaven Panthers. The Rams tallied on a 16 yard Shanks to Morris pass, a safety, and two touchdowns by Shanks, one for six yards, the other on a 50 yard scramble on a rain soaked field.

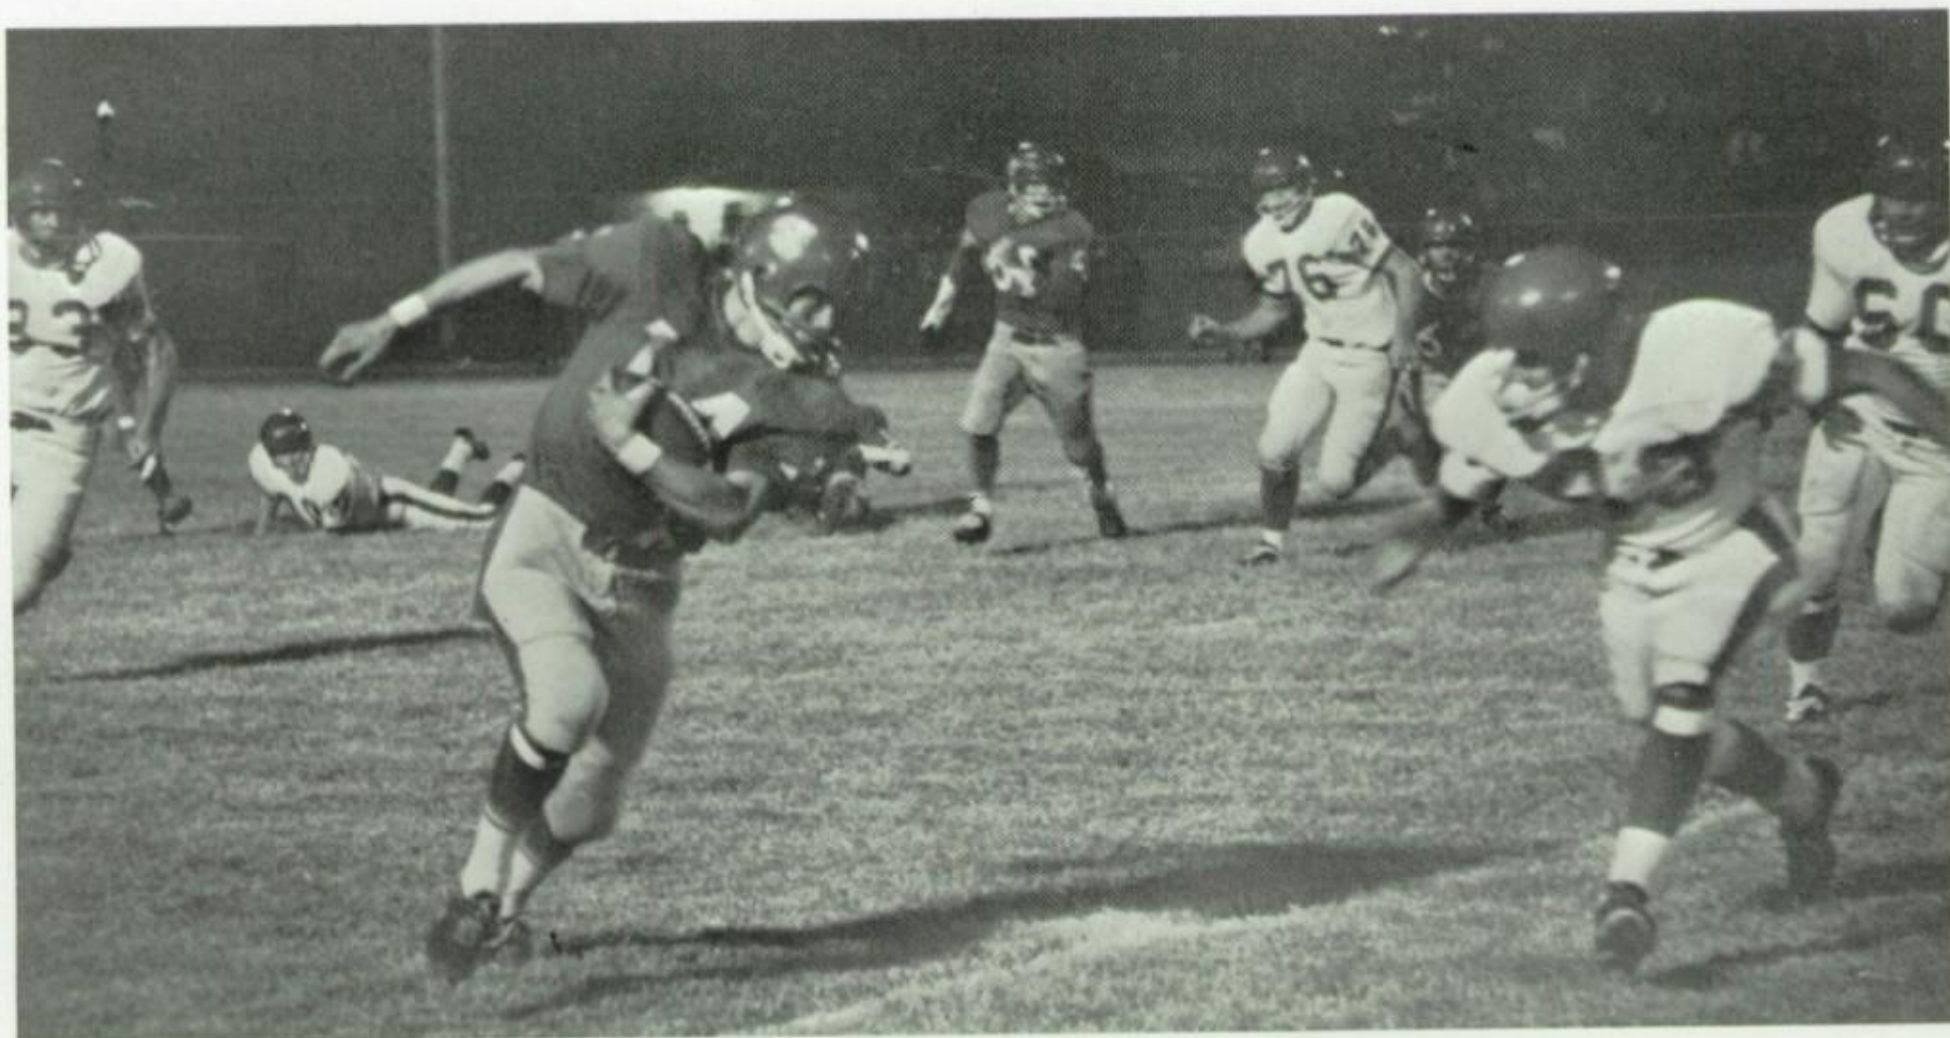

Reed Stresses Value of Teamwork

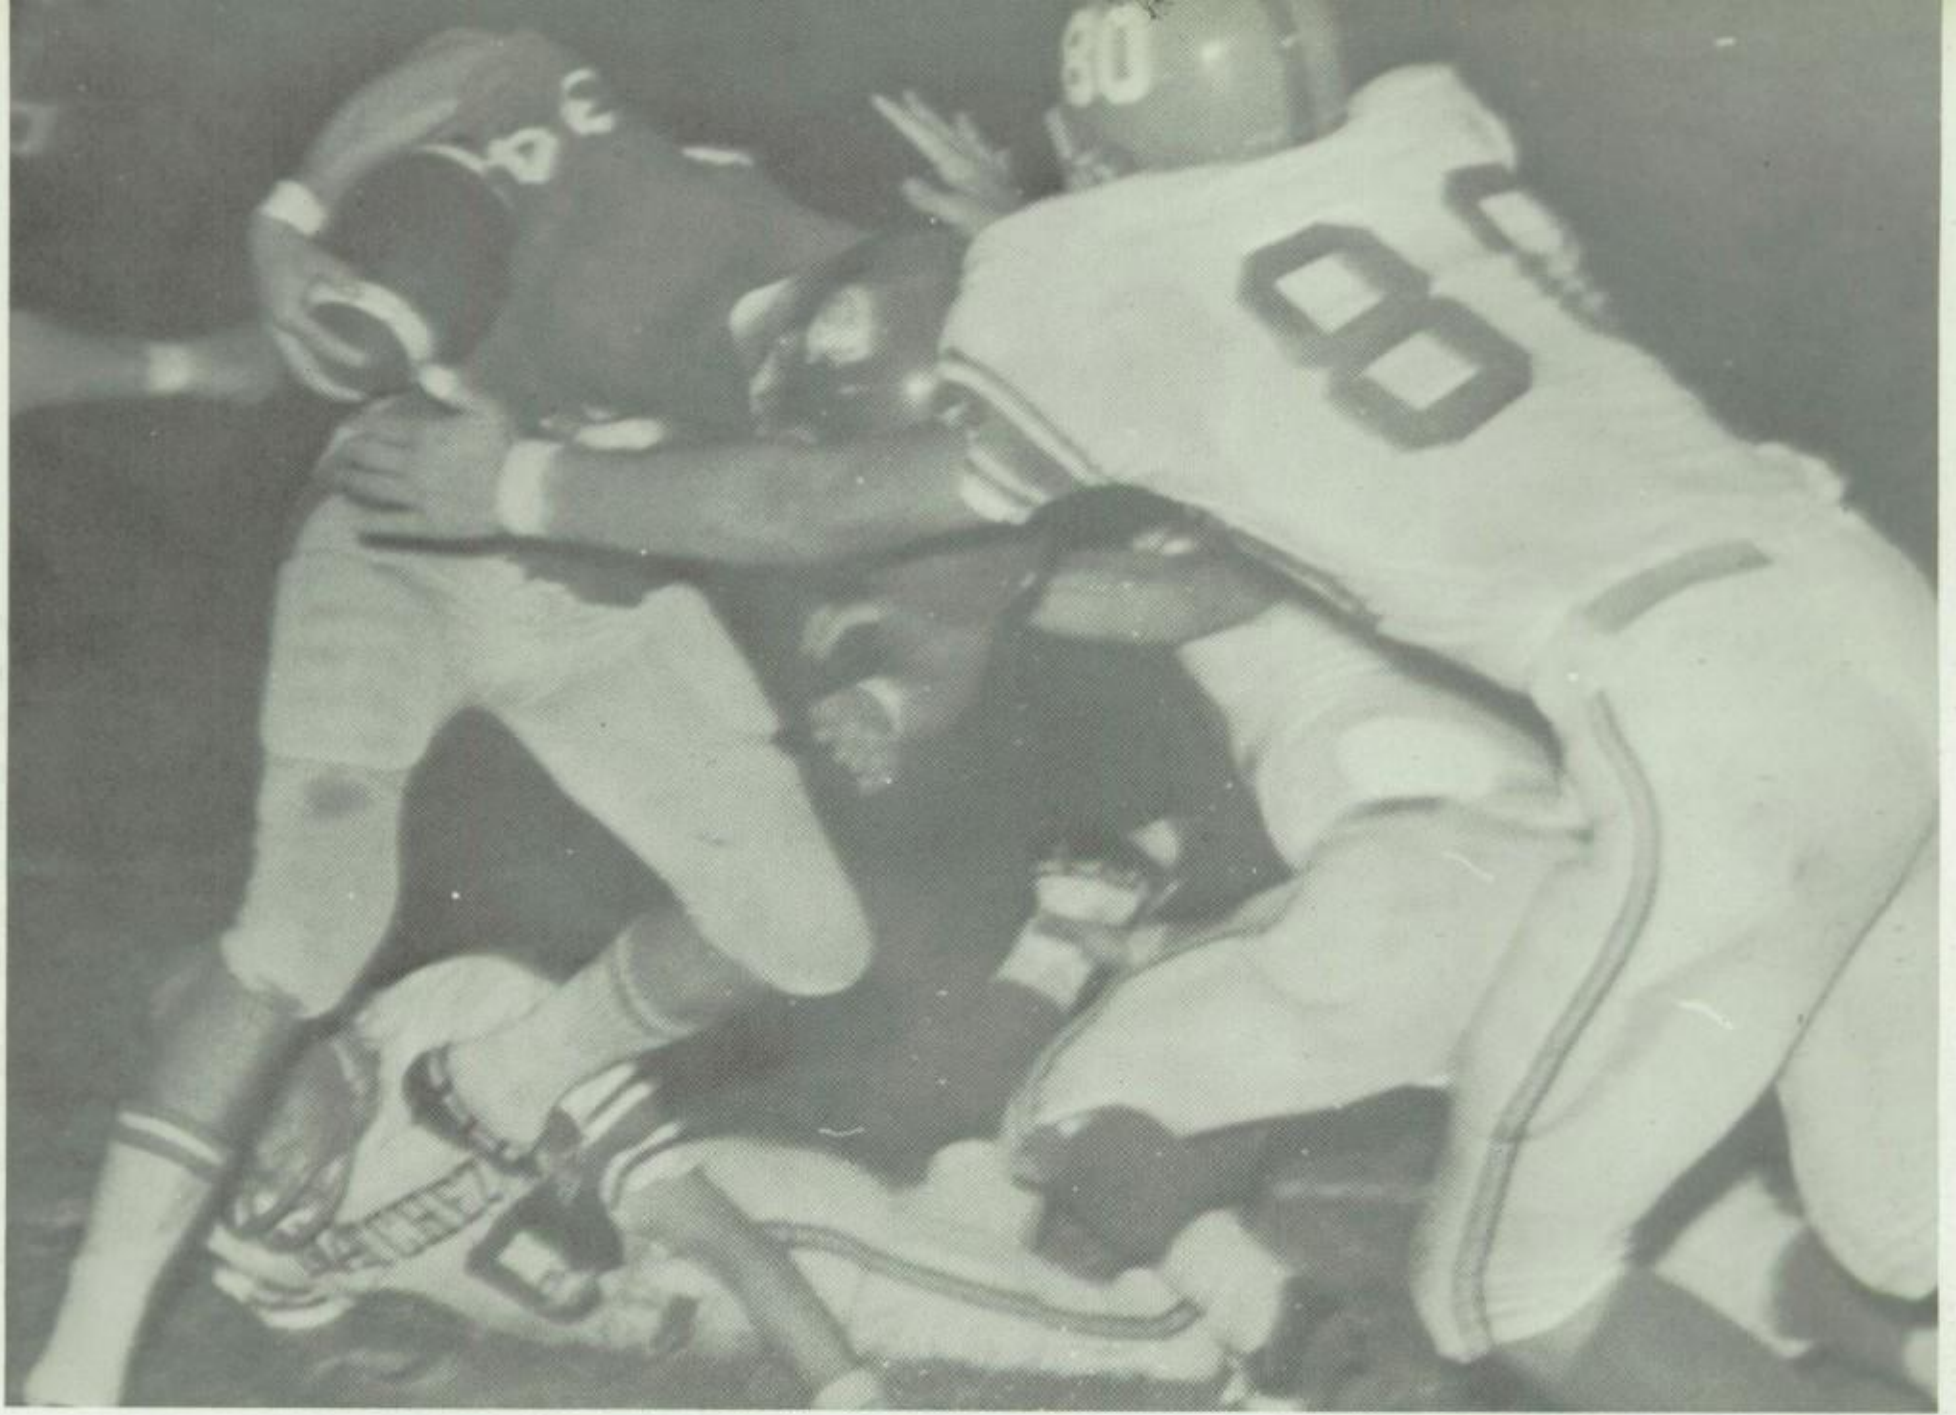

Invading the reservation of the previously unbeaten Biloxi Indians, Provine emerged a 20-13 victor, knocking the Indians out of the South Big Eight title race. In the first quarter Shanks lofted a 71 yard bomb to Underwood for the tally. After the Indians had tied the score, Shanks then tossed a 24 yard scoring aerial to wingback Morris late in the second quarter.

The Rams all but iced the game in the third period with a long drive capped by Shanks' four yard run. Fighting valiantly, the Indians pulled six points closer near the close of the game. In the final minutes the Rams held another Biloxi drive for the upset victory.

Tailback Don Shanks drops back and sets up to launch another aerial in Provine's 20-13 victory over Biloxi.

Wingback Bernard Morris scampers for yardage against the Brookhaven Panthers.

Natchez Rebels swarm determined tailback Rickey Hartzog in Provine's Homecoming victory.

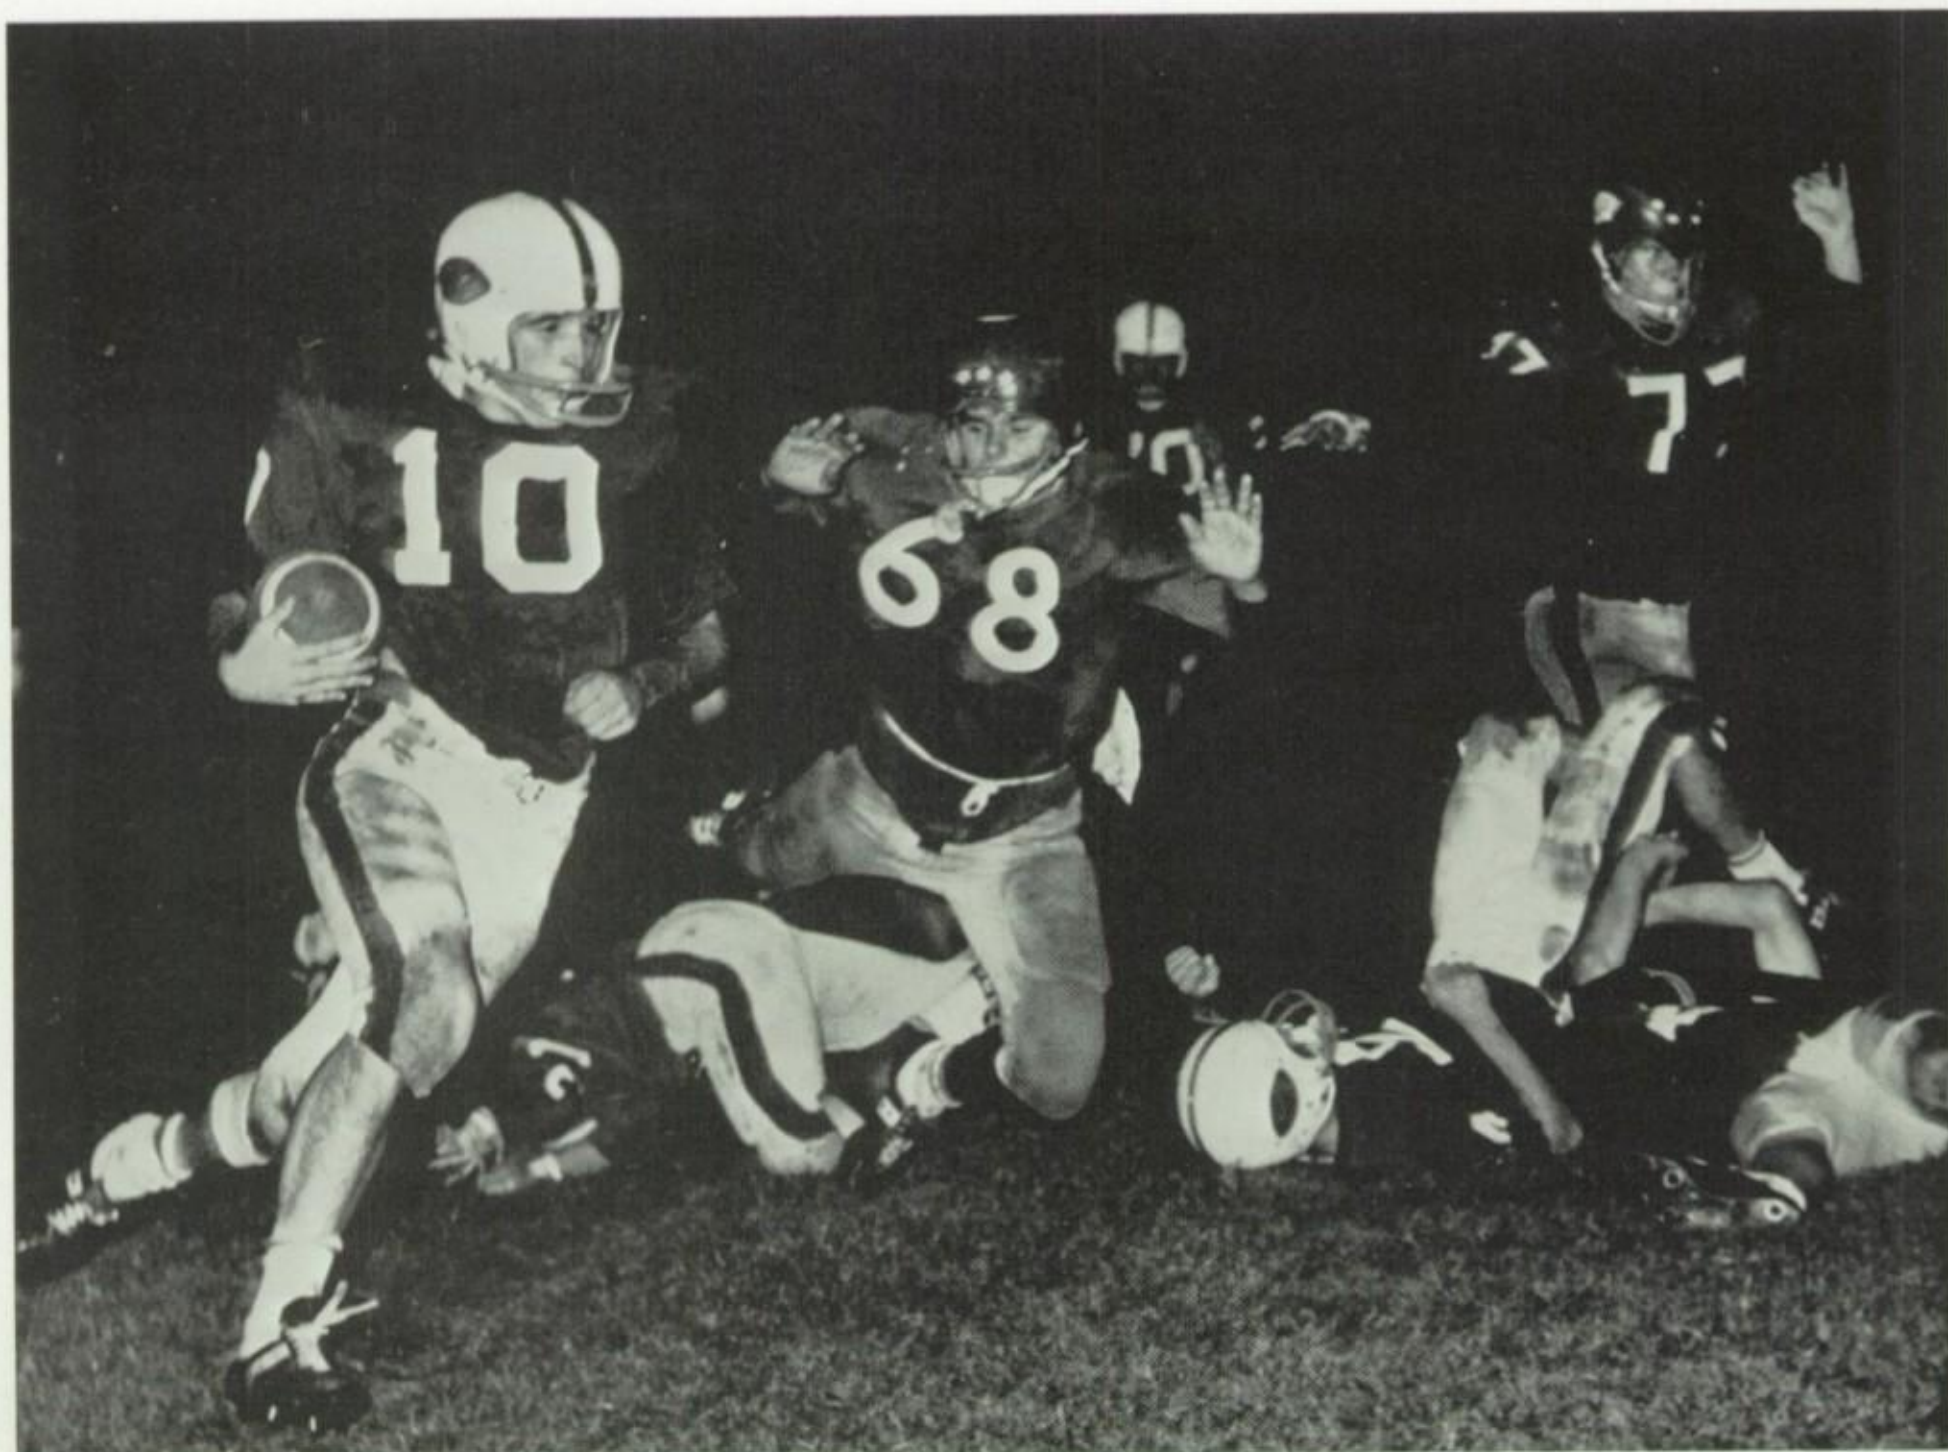

Provine's Brett Adams just doesn't give up in his drive for extra yards.

Rams Triumph in Homecoming Duel

With an awesome display of offensive power the Rams delighted the Homecoming crowd in a 41-28 scoring duel with the Natchez Rebels. Provine scored first as fullback Gary Freeman ran 28 yards up the middle on the Rams' third play from scrimmage. After two Natchez scores, tailback Shanks hit Morris with a 31 yard pass to tie the score.

In the opening minutes of the third period fullback Freeman plunged over for his second score. Capitalizing on two Rebel fumbles, a one-yard drive by Shanks and a pass to Underwood widened the margin to 35-14. In the fourth period Donnie Caruth ran 23 yards to pay dirt for the final Rams' score.

As a Brookhaven Panther attempts yardage, guard Harold Hogue (68) and tackle Randall Armstrong (77) strain to prevent the gain.

Managers Win Worthy Recognition

1965 Team Managers were Lea Wren, Jim Gallaspy, Baine Adams, Billy Lay, and Danny Bishop.

Playing an essential role on this year's successful football team were Provine's fine set of managers. Led by head manager Jim Gallaspy, juniors Billy Lay, Danny Bishop, Lea Wren, and sophomore Baine Adams rendered invaluable services to the team during practices and during the games. Administering first aid, and keeping the equipment in order were their top duties. Other duties included issuing uniforms and cleaning the locker room. The superior quality of their many services has been made evident through this year's conquests on the gridiron.

Players Earn Numerous Awards

Provine's 1965 football team had those certain players who stood out above the rest in ability and accomplishment. Their contribution to the team on and off the field deemed them certain for special recognition. Awards this year were given to the following: co-captains—Randall Armstrong, Pete Cajoleas, Don Shanks; most improved back, Bernard Morris; outstanding offensive back, Don Shanks; outstanding defensive back, Bill Kron; outstanding team blocker, Pete Cajoleas; outstanding line blocker, David Litzkow; outstanding backfield blocker, Gary Freeman; outstanding lineman, Randall Armstrong; most improved lineman, Max Arinder; outstanding defensive lineman, Harold Hogue; scholastic award, Ralph Sulser; Mitchell Robinson plaque, Derle Underwood; players of the week—Don Shanks, Harold Hogue, David Litzkow, Bill Kron, Bernard Morris; all Big Eight Team—Don Shanks, Randall Armstrong, Bernard Morris, Derle Underwood; player of the year, Don Shanks.

Adams is down this time, but in the expert hands of the managers he will soon be as good as new.

Rams Stomp Big 8 Champs

After a week of spirit building climaxed by concentration day, Provine met the vaunted Murrah Mustangs in the biggest game of the season and emerged a 13-6 victor.

Early in the first period Shanks electrified the crowd of over 12,000 with a brilliant 23 yard sweep around left end for a score. The PAT was no good. The rugged Ram defense had the powerful Mustang ground attack stymied until late in the second period when one Mustang tried to go all the way, but a determined shoestring tackle by Derle Underwood halted him at the Provine 13 yard line. With tremendous effort the Ram defense retained the 6-0 lead at halftime.

Mustang Penny Deaton finds traveling difficult with Rams like Harold Hogue (68) around.

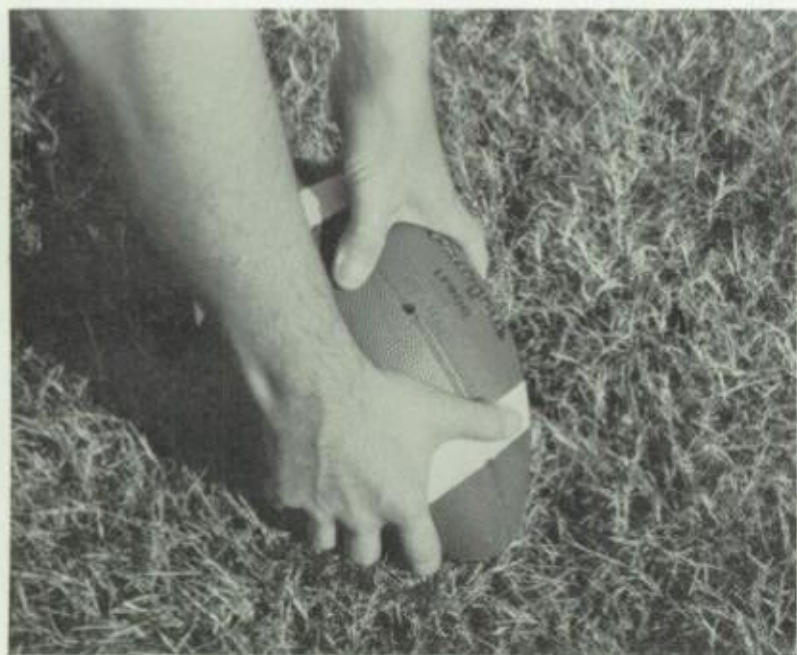

Provine has a good thing going against Murrah, a 13-6 victory.

"We Can Really Go!!"

In the third period Shanks, Freeman, and Morris shared the duties in a 43 yard drive capped by a famed Shanks one yard plunge. Harris' PAT was perfect, and the Rams led 13-0. The ensuing kickoff by Hartzog split the uprights—an amazing distance of 70 yards in the air. The Mustang offense finally pushed through for six points with 1:42 left in the game.

Provine spirit reigned supreme at Newell Field easily drowning the weakening Murrah yells. Provine was supreme. As the final seconds ticked off and the whistle sounded, pandemonium broke loose. Ecstatic Rams merged onto the field to the strains of "WE BEAT MURRAH!!!"

"Ready, set . . ."

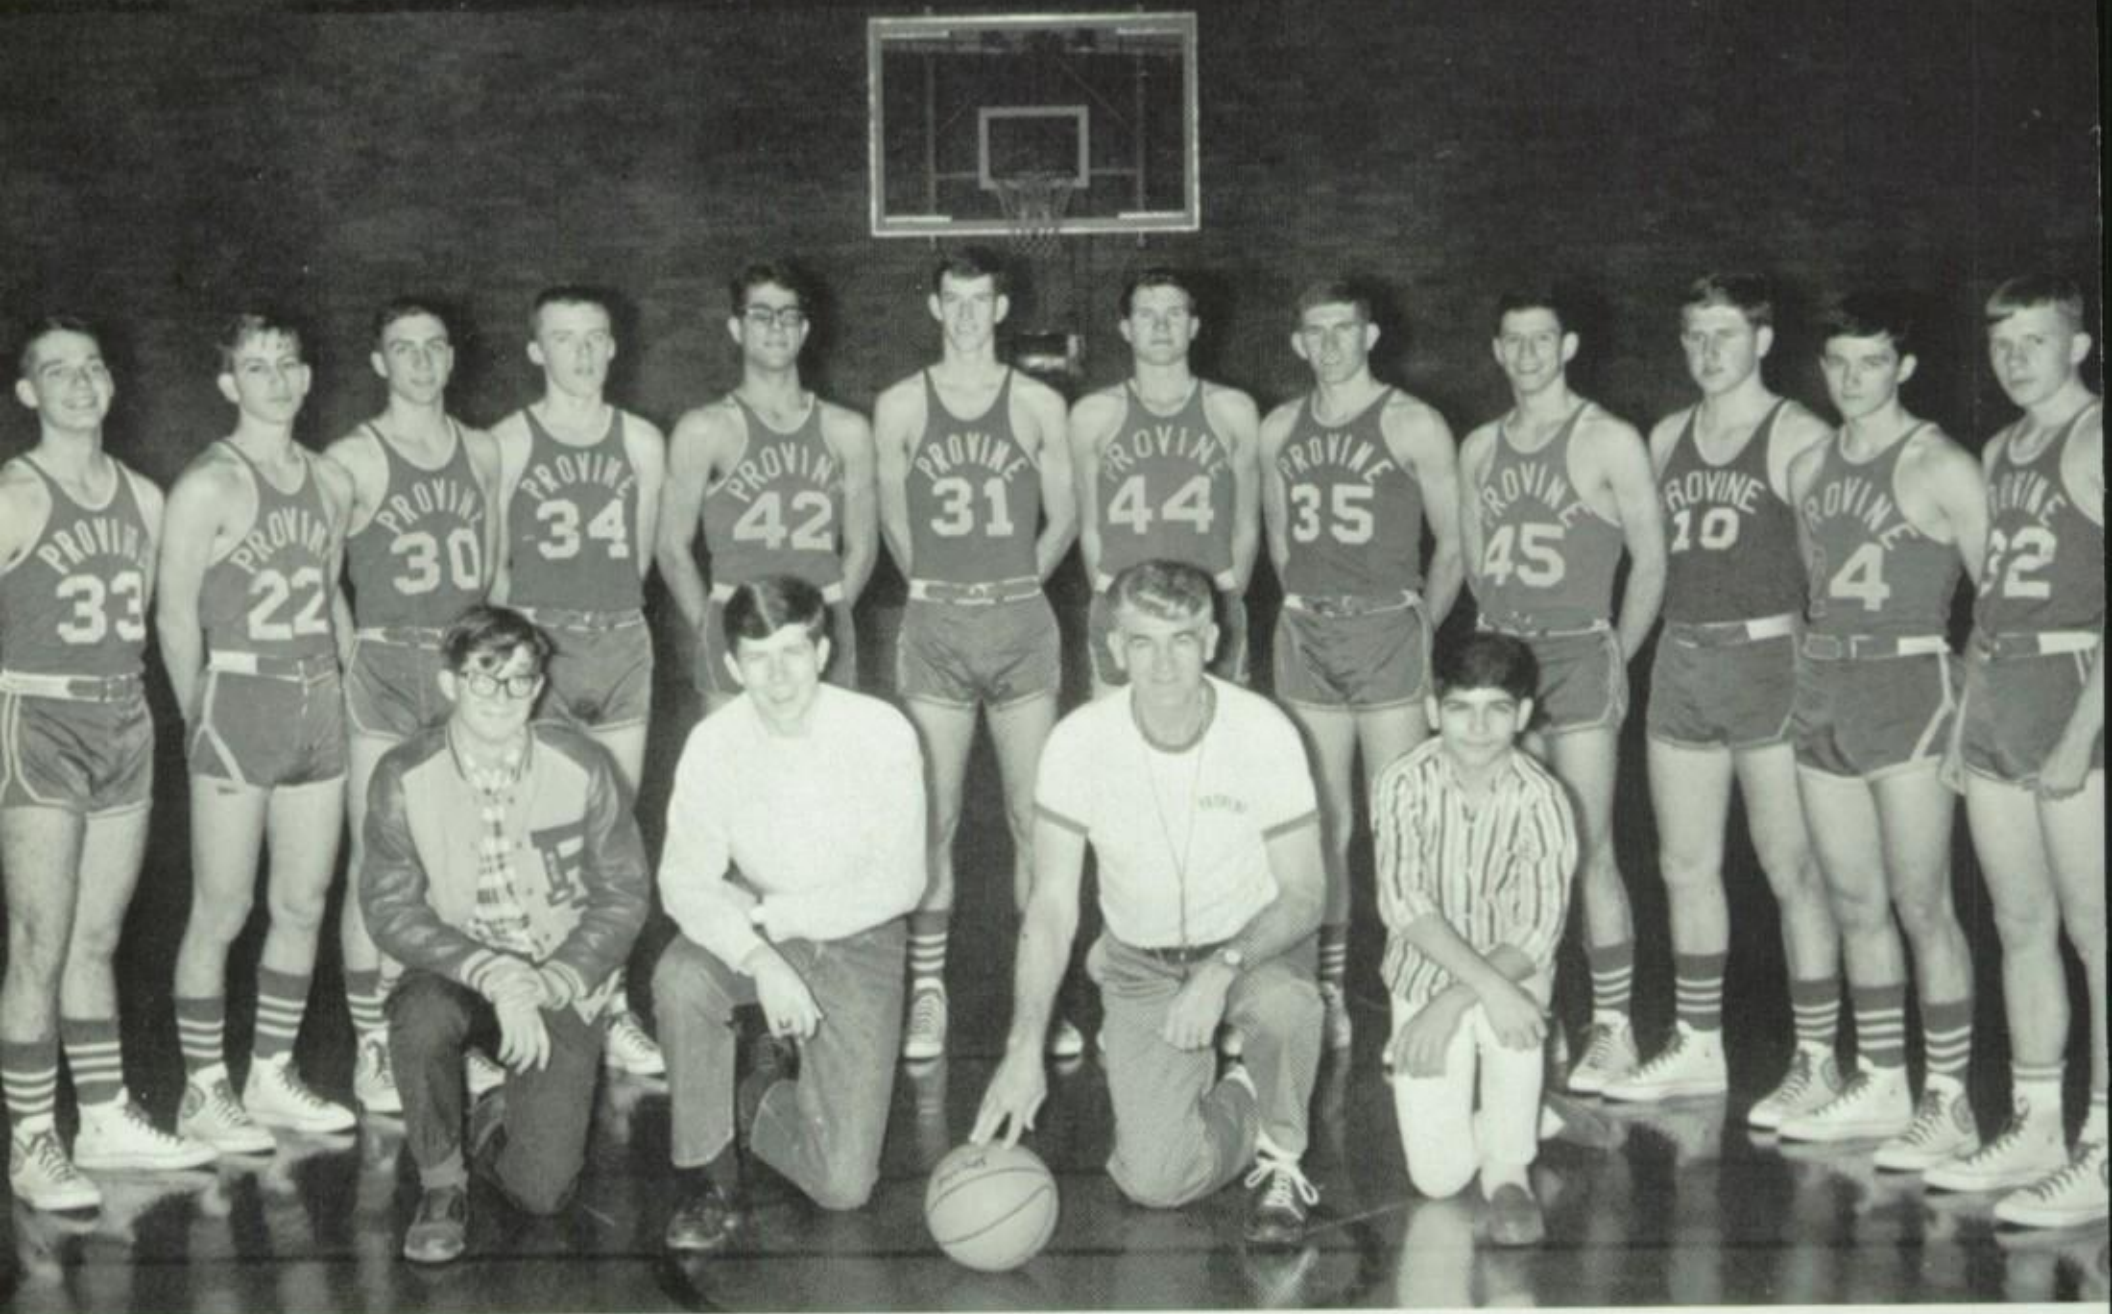

"Now, if I were calling the play . . ."

This picture leaves no doubt in the minds of the victor of the Provine-Murrah game. By virtue of the Rams' 13-6 victory, Provine wins the City Championship.

Rams Roll for 19-5 Season

The 1965-66 campaign proved a banner year for Provine's high-flying cagemen. With a good number of experienced lettermen returning, the Rams reeled off ten consecutive victories to begin the season. Included in this string were two tournament championships at Murrah and Forest Hill. Uptown rival Central spoiled the string in a 35-34 thriller, but the Rams came back and soon after reached a heretofore unprecedented mark in a 100-80 century breaker against Natchez. Late in the season Provine met Central for the city championship and in a close, hard-fought game the Rams emerged a 60-56 victor. Provine closed out the season in a disappointing loss to Florence, thus ending the Rams' hopes for a state championship.

Rams Stomp Traditional Arch-Rival

Highlighting the Provine cage season were fine showings in tournament competition. The high-scoring Rams marched to two early season tournament championships in the Murrah Invitational and the Forest Hill Rebel Classic. In the Forest Hill Tourney the Rams reached their peak in a heart-stopping 67-66 double overtime win over previously unbeaten Morton. Provine reached the finals in the Hinds County Tournament and the Sub-district VI meet but lost out in both championship games. The South Big-Eight Tournament spelled upset for the Rams as Pascagoula dashed Provine's hopes of the Big-Eight crown in a 48-46 overtime thriller. The final game of the season was a 73-55 loss to Florence, which eliminated hopes for the state championship and closed out the schedule with a fine 19-5 record.

Managers Aid in Team Readiness

Supplying invaluable aid to the players, the team managers worked behind the scenes to urge the competitors toward victory. Filling the three positions were some of the school's most fervent basketball enthusiasts—Bob Allen, Phil Barnes, and Corky Saik. These dedicated workers performed some of the more unattractive tasks needed to keep the players in top condition throughout the game. Required to be constantly on the alert, they were always ready to aid an injured or exhausted player. A demanding duty of much work and little reward was carried out fully and completely by the three managers.

B-Team Finishes 1st Undefeated Season

With a season of no defeats the Rams' B-Team, commonly known as the Lambs, proved their destructive strength in each game. Headed by coach Buddy Bounds, they completed the first undefeated season on Provine's record.

In the past, the B-Team action has tempered the teams for tougher competition. This year Scott Curtis and Jimmy Cofer came to the forefront on the second team. Their talents, coupled with those of many other sophomores and juniors, brought the City B-Team Championship to Provine.

Chief Leads Golfers to Glory

Led by veteran coach Ben "Chief" Taylor, the Provine golf team made a good showing in many golf meets held throughout the late spring. The team made especially good showings in city meets and also the Big-Eight Tournament.

Many hours of practice went into the perfection of the game, and the linksmen worked for long periods each day on their shots in order to produce a winning combination. Many returning lettermen hoped to spark the team to important wins throughout the spring. The 1966 golf season truly proved to be another asset to Provine's string of athletic successes.

Diamond Beckons Experienced Lettermen

Early spring finds team members loosening up their arms.

Under the leadership of new head coach John Ladner, the Ram baseball team looked forward to a successful year in District VI and State competition. Bolstered by the return of eleven lettermen and over fifty hopeful newcomers, the diamondmen hoped to improve on last year's record. As there was a shortage of experienced moundsmen early February found pitchers and catchers working out daily in preparation for their first contest in the Murrah Tournament. Practice for the remaining team members began on March 1, and with the experience at every position, the Rams were confident of their finest season in years.

Spring Sparks Cinder Enthusiasm

A look back at the 1965 track season showed another successful year for the team. The record book showed Provine's thinclads finishing second in all events and meets behind the strong Murrah team, who won their ninth straight state championship. Returning lettermen from last year's squad, plus newcomers from the sophomore and junior classes, gave track coach Ed Reed hopes for a banner season this year.

The team began practice in early March, hoping to make outstanding showings in their meets. Canton's Rotary Relays provided the Rams with their first competition against the state's best teams. These relays were followed by the Jackson Daily News Relays at Mississippi Memorial Stadium. Following the invitational meets the team settled down for competition in the South Big-Eight and overall Big-Eight Meets, the City meet, and the State meets.

West Takes Coaching Position

Striving to uphold past records of success, the Provine tennis season began with an atmosphere of optimism and anticipation. Led by new coach, Mr. Charles West, Ram netmen looked forward to contests in District Six and state competition. Although in somewhat of a rebuilding year, the tennis team had several outstanding champions returning.

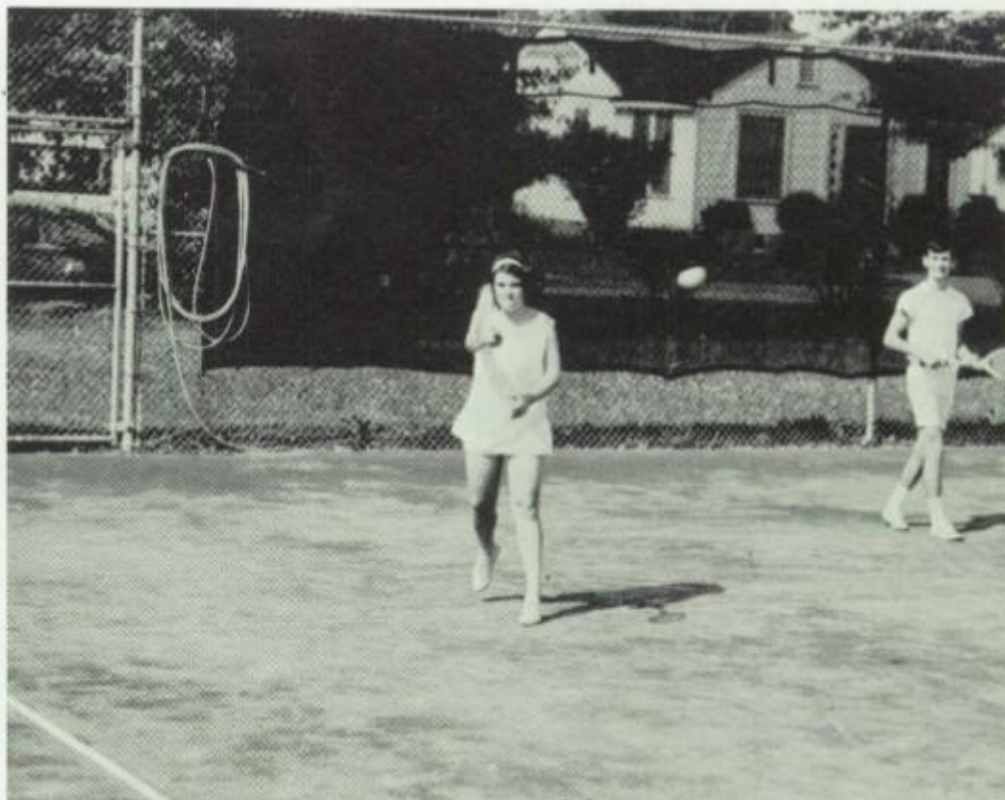

Traveling on last year's southern tournament circuit, many members gained valuable experience which proved an asset to this season's record. Long hours of early spring practice were rewarded with a season highlighted with many team triumphs.

Gym Appeals to Activated Interests

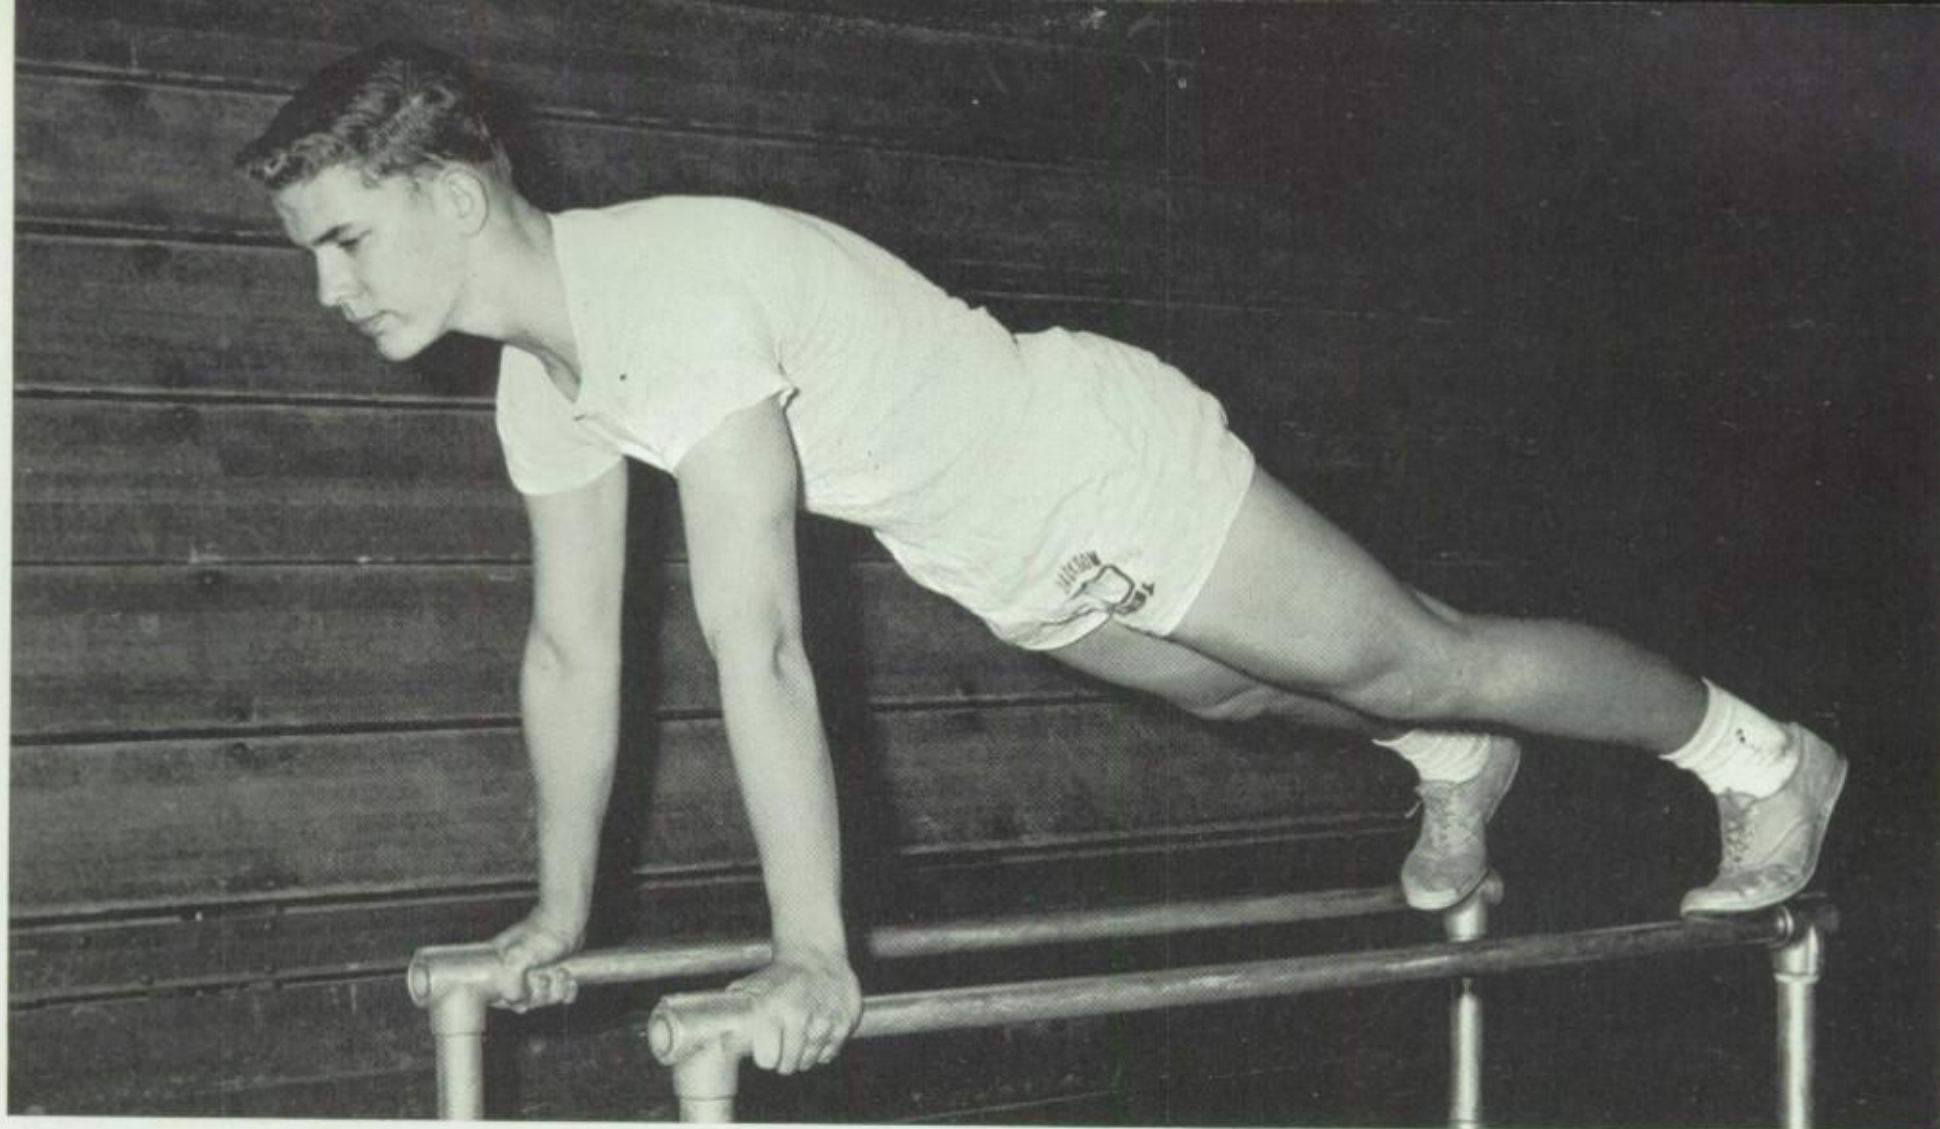

With new equipment in the gym and new leadership during classes, each gym period became a refreshing change from the day's demanding schedule. Even though they were enjoyable, however, they were not all play, for students were required to participate actively in all of the sports' exertions. The daily gym classes also offered girls an opportunity to compete in intramurals and thus undergo the unique experience of sports competition. Boys were able to improve their favorite sports and become better participants on the school's teams. Thus, these classes proved to be a vital part of the school's athletic program.

STUDENT LIFE

Provine Renders Avidity in School Life

Yesterday, today, and tomorrow—as quickly as the year began it was all over again. Each and every day brimmed with places to go, people to meet, and things to do. Monday was student council, Tuesday was basketball games, Wednesday was clubs, Thursday was assembly programs, and Fridays brought pep rallies, football games, and dances.

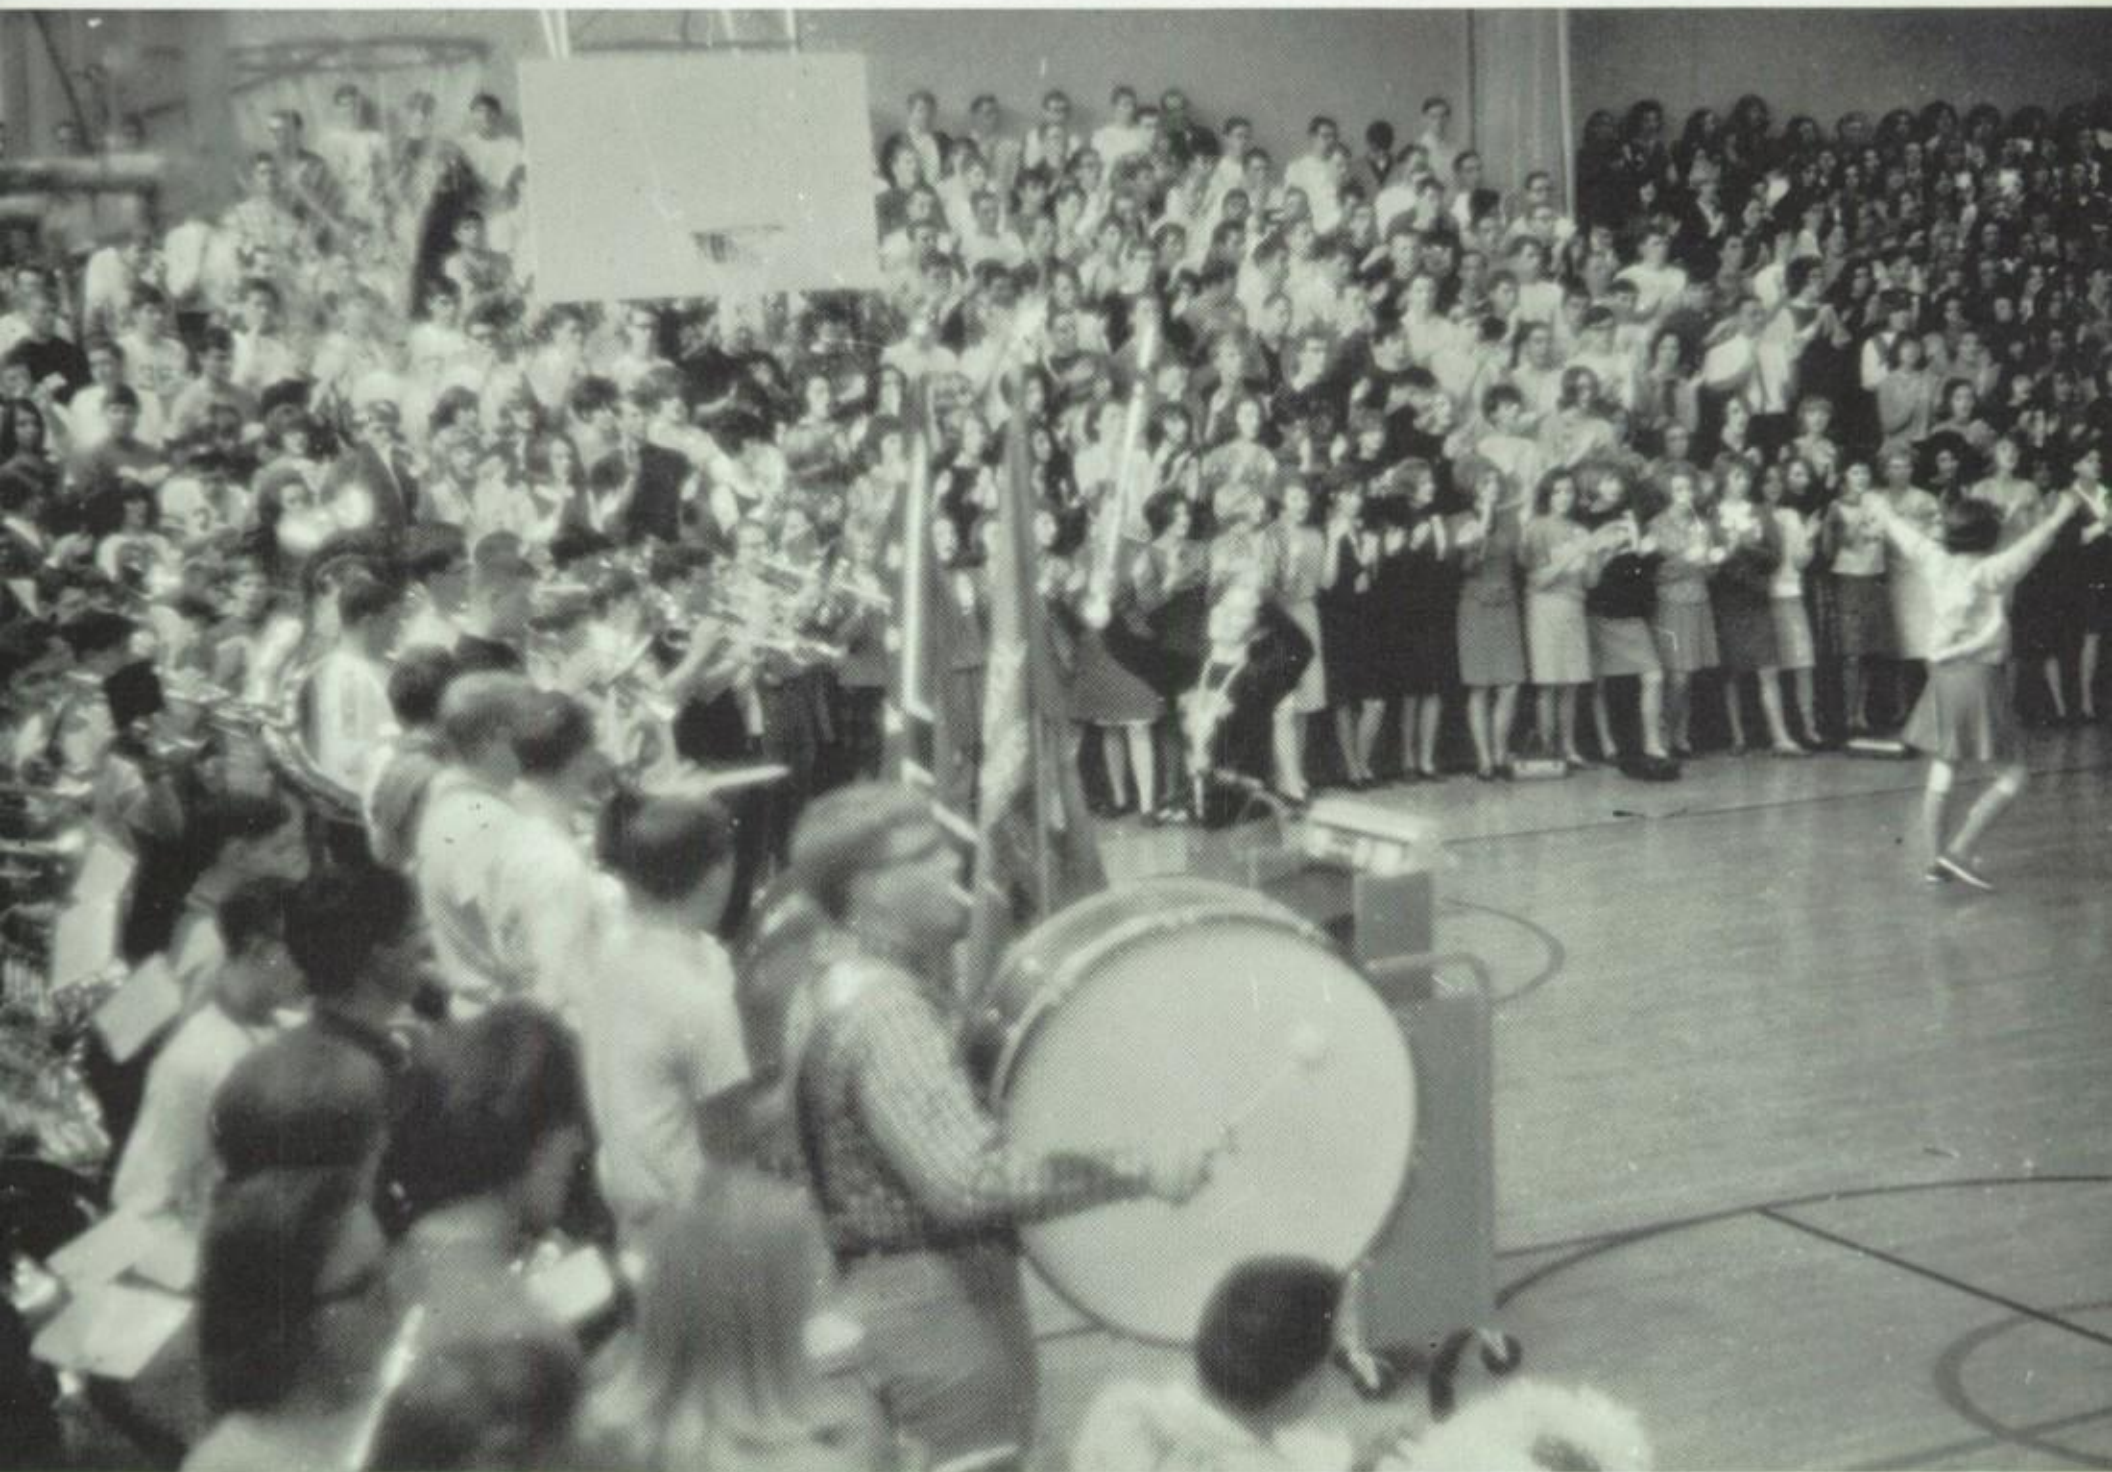

Shady Oaks and Shoney's reverberated with the sounds of stomping Rams. The year brought the jerk, pendant watches and Krystal hamburgers into popularity. The debate team traveled 1500 miles, the Mu Alpha Theta hosted the state convention, and the football team and student body humiliated Murrah to the tune of 13-6.

Yesterday—Today—Tomorrow.

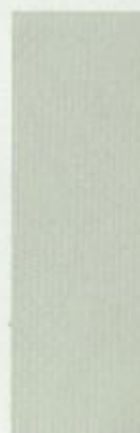

Phil Barnes and Jim Hurt illustrate typical student life.

An ancient proverb is illustrated by Ronnie Dear, Goober Overby, and John Ellis.

Spirit reaches an all-time peak as 1700 students fill the gym with the cheer "gonna beat Murrah."

Meeting for brief chats between classes, posters in the front hall, and Harvey the Ram are an integral part of student life at Provine.

Ditto Crowned Homecoming Queen

Amid a mystical air of anticipation, Provine students eagerly awaited the week of Homecoming. Excitement reached its height on Friday with an exuberant pep rally and the thrilling 41-28 victory over the Natchez Rebels.

Half-time found all spectators captivated by the royal ceremonies. After an excellent presentation by the championship Provine band, the Homecoming Court was introduced. Presented to the cheering students were sophomore maid Cheryl Taylor, junior maid Debbie Buck, and senior maids Becky Breedlove, Ginger Ditto, and Shirley Hagerman. Then came the climaxing moment as senior maid Ginger Ditto was crowned by Mr. David Sessums as the 1965 Homecoming Queen.

Rams End Mustang Dynasty

On November 19, the mighty Mustang dynasty fell to the ready Rams. In preparation for the heated game an entire week was dedicated to "Beat Murrah!" Throughout the week Provine was the scene of static excitement—an excitement built by pep rallies, decorated halls, comic skits, and last minute practices. Each person truly gave of himself to make the week a success.

While the mighty Mustangs bathed in their glory, the Rams worked quietly to draw a sudden upset. As time drew near the spirit rose, until at last the traditional rivals met on the field.

The ultimate victory was the result of strong unity and boundless spirit. Each Provinian will long remember the tremendous strength of the powerful Rams in 1966—and then the magic numbers 13-6!

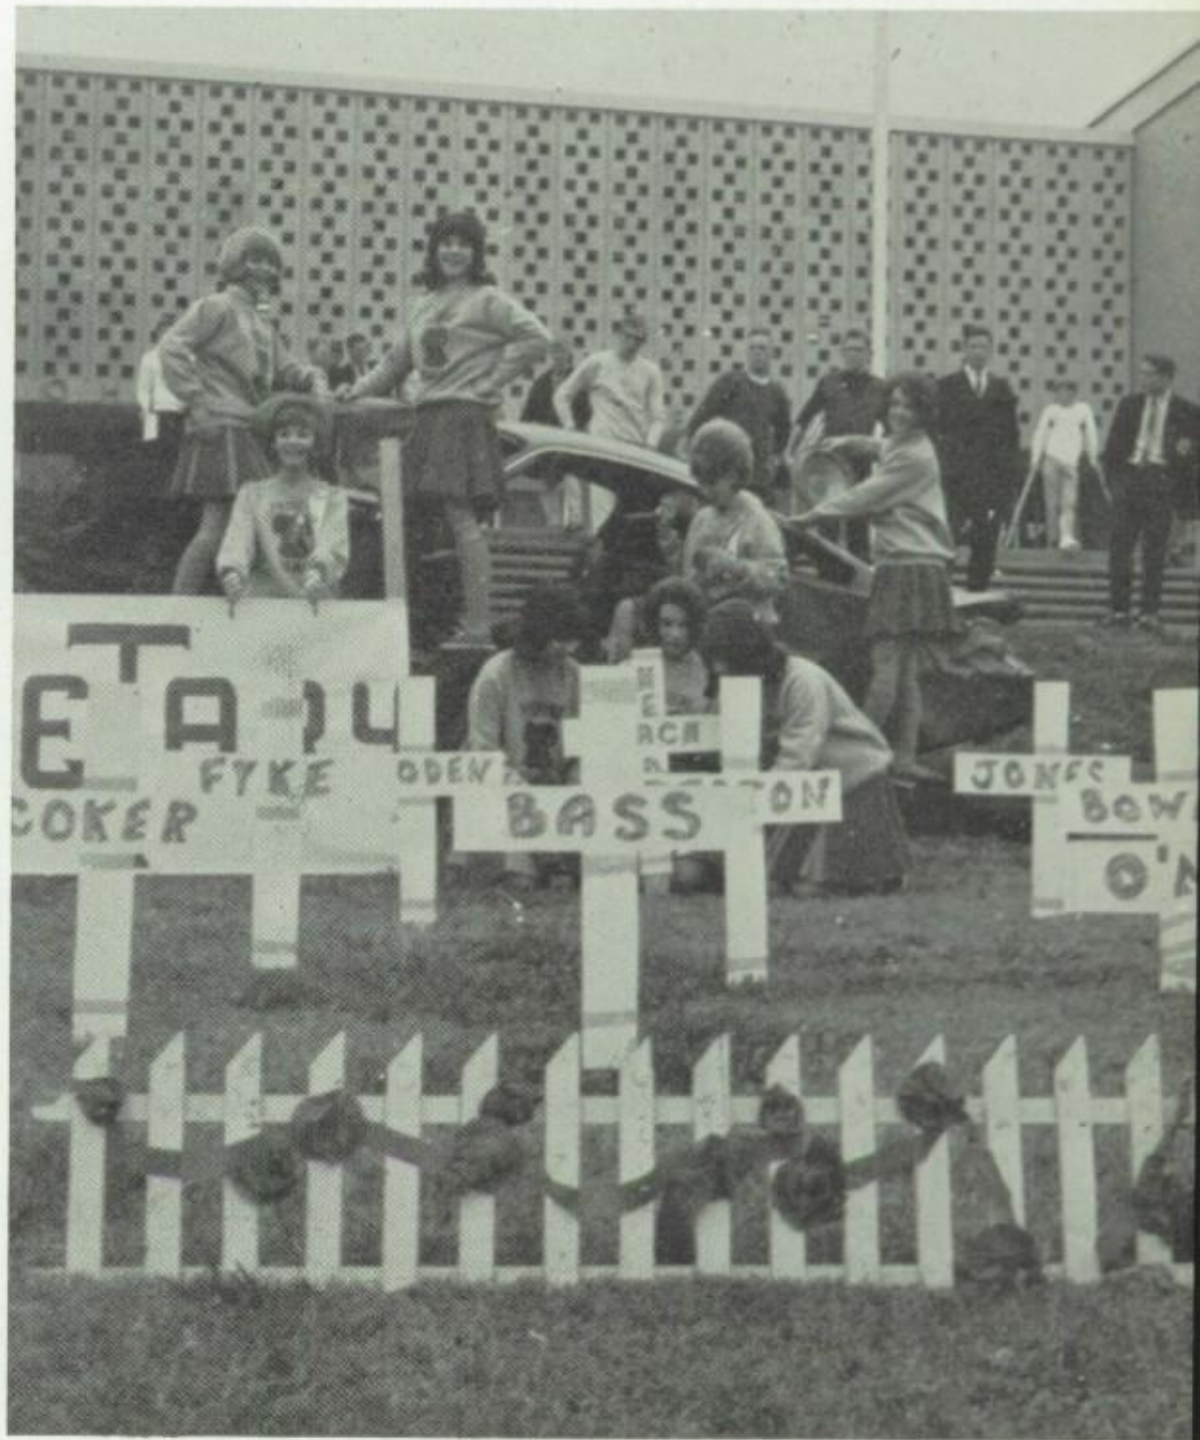

The students, the faculty, even the walls, reverberate the universal theme.

Pepsters Earn Worthy Recognition

Bubbling with the determination for which Provine's cheerleaders are famous, the pepsters again proved to be successful at the Mid-South Cheerleader Clinic at the University of Mississippi. Besides winning the first place ribbon, they earned the over-all spirit stick, an honor equalled by no others at the clinic.

Always they gave unerring dedication and service to the teams, whether the games were won or lost. Through hurricanes, tournaments, and even the strenuous Beat Murrah Week, their spirit never failed to incite in others the urge to win and be the best. All who heard the roar of the Provine student body and cheerleaders will always remember the school with the indestructible spirit.

Rams Become Kings of the Road

1965-66 was typical in at least one respect—Rams were constantly on the move. Their destinations varied but their purpose remained always to represent Provine with the best possible diplomacy.

The JCL trekked to the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, journalists went by rail to Chicago for NSPA, the Mu Alpha Theta held a convention and chartered two busses to Mississippi State University, and the Safety Council went to Chattanooga. The Debate Team flew to Durham, North Carolina, to win the Southern Forensic, and the Student Council representatives traveled to Williamsburg, Virginia, and Natchez for SASC and MASC.

World Abounds With Historic Events

As the world turns, each progressing second brings new faces, new ideas and new crises to the fore. In 1966, Pope Paul VI became the first of his rank to visit American shores, the space race ordained new pioneers, Francis Cardinal Spellman visited Viet Nam while the war in Southeast Asia raged on.

In a more local scope, former governor J. P. Coleman was named a Federal Judge, Patsy Puckett (Miss Mississippi, 1965) was named first alternate to Miss America, Jackson reached the quarter million mark in population, and Provine Rams journeyed to Biloxi to humiliate the Indians 20-13 in the wake of hurricane Betsy. Current events played an integral part of each day.

Former Mississippi Governor, J. P. Coleman, was elevated to a Federal judgeship by President Johnson.

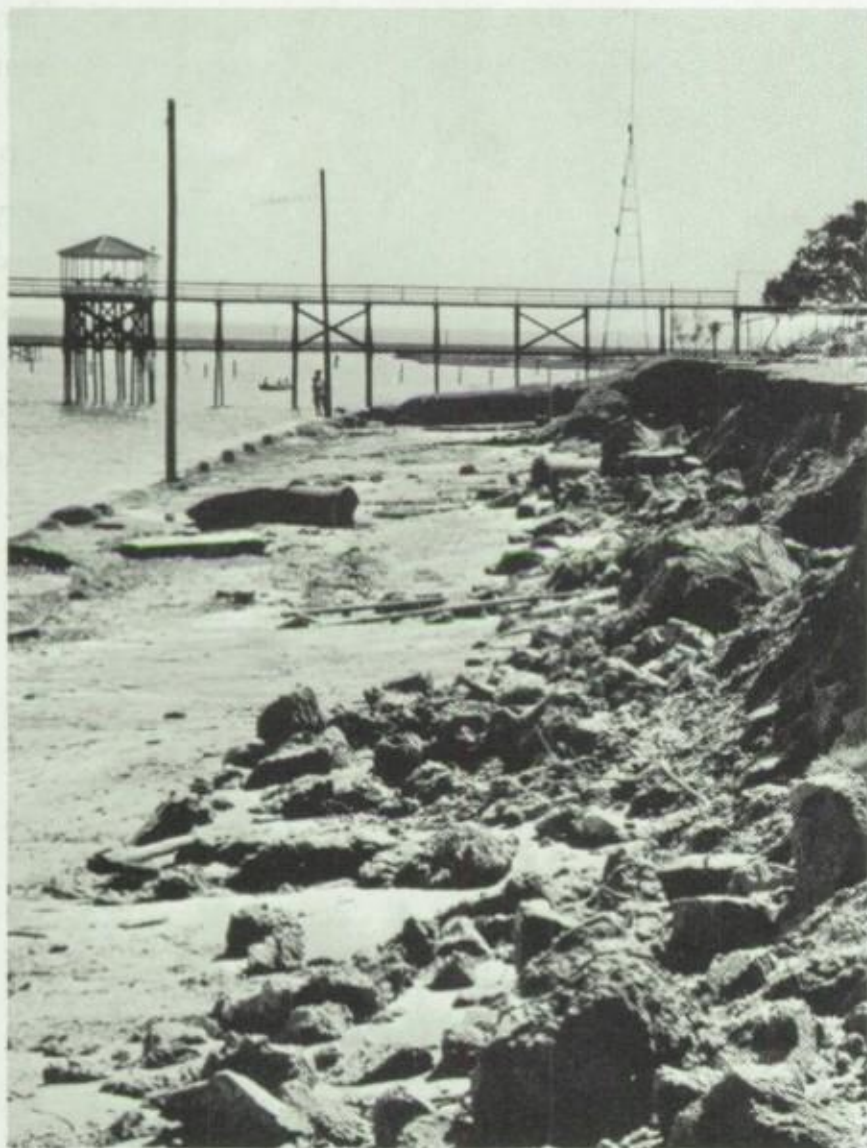

Jackson, Mississippi, became an actual metropolis as it reached the quarter million mark in its population.

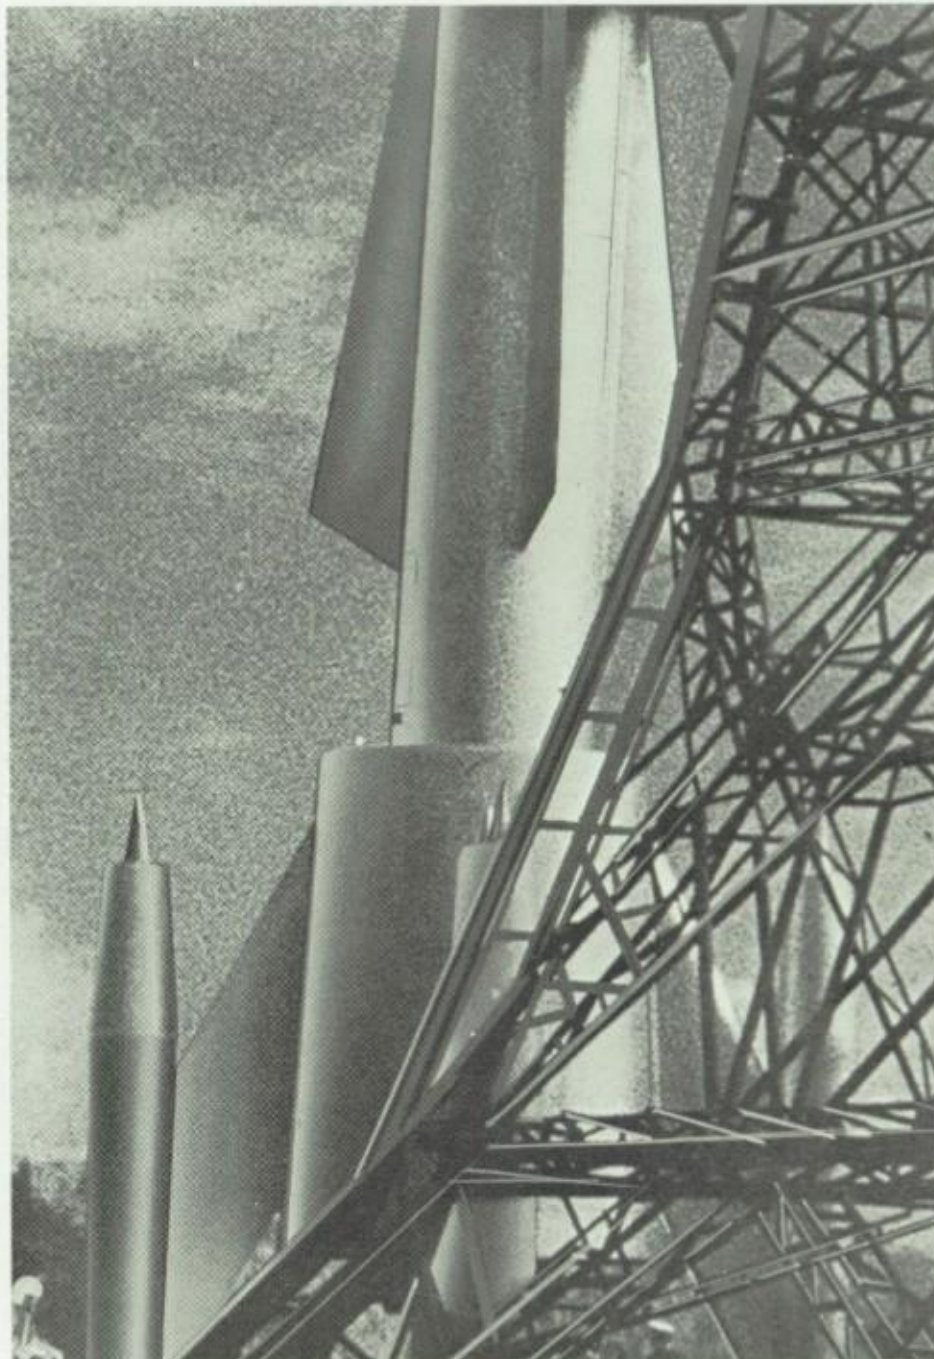

Patsy Puckett, first alternate to Miss America, Judy Simino, and Linda Mann brought more beauty honors to Mississippi.

Vietnamese troops received the blessings of Francis Cardinal Spellman.

Mississippi's Gulf Coast suffered widespread damage at the hands of hurricane Betsy.

Jackson was presented with the "Cleanest City" award by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

The United States forged ahead of the Russians in the record-breaking flight of astronauts Stafford and Schirra.

1966 Poll Voices Opinions on Viet Nam

One of today's most controversial issues, the Viet Nam War, seemed to promote common opinions among Provincians, for in a poll representing a cross-section of students and faculty, each individual expressed the belief that the United States should remain in the war. Kathy Hoover and senior class president, Buddy Hoover, both felt that America would be defeating its purpose to withdraw now. Student body vice-president, Goober Overby, felt that now that the United States is committed it must continue to fight for its principles. Diana Hemphill felt that individual freedoms can only be safeguarded if the United States stays in Viet Nam. Mr. James Burnside, counselor and teacher, and a veteran of the Korean War, summed up the beliefs of all those voicing opinions when he said, "I would rather fight now on Vietnamese soil than later in America."

Transfers Find New Life at Provine

Adjusting to the routine of a new high school was the challenging situation with which a number of new students were confronted. Those students from smaller high schools in the state were required to become accustomed to a more comprehensive and demanding curriculum; they were also provided with more opportunities for developing outside interests. Those students from other states, such as Illinois, Nebraska, and California, who entered the school were required to make an even greater adjustment. Each Provinian worked to make these new students welcome, for all of them had something to contribute to the school.

Newcomers to Provine are Vernon McLaurin, Mike Brown, Evelyn Laird, Peggy Clark, Sandra Ware, David McIntosh, Gary Black.

New students at Provine this year are George Bunyard, Ellen Ramos, Bobby Stafford, Carolyn McSweyn, and Rita Pulliam.

Transfers to Provine after the beginning of school are Nancy Wayne, Shirley Jennings, Dicie Norman, Dee Dee Derrington, Steve Harper, Tommy Jennings, Larry Keyes, Baron Moray, Leroy Miller, Larry Godbold.

Provine's Board members for the PTA are Mrs. H. P. Tatum, Mrs. Vernon Chadwick, Mrs. C. R. McHorse, Mrs. Jack Evans, Mrs. Robert Farr, Mrs. W. H. Buck, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Stampley, Mrs. J. L. Bouchillon, Mrs. Bethel Ferguson, Mrs. Jack P. Gallagher, Mrs. Bryan Screws, Mrs. Pal R. Jones, Mrs. W. P. Nance, Mrs. L. W. Godbold, Mrs. H. W. Webb, Mrs. Richard Farr, Jr., Mrs. R. F. Ballard, Mr. W. J. Bilbro, Mrs. Randolph Jones, Mrs. G. H. Ingram, Mrs. Ralph Sulser, and Mr. David Sessums.

P.T.A. Endeavors to Better Community

A well-functioning and energetic PTA is a vital part of any school. This year Provine's chapter of the Parent-Teacher Association successfully undertook the job of uniting the home and school more closely so that parents and teachers could cooperate intelligently in the training of today's teenagers.

Through a splendidly organized program, the PTA sought to promote the welfare of children and youth in the home, church, school, and community. An extensive schedule of varied activities concerning school and home life resulted in a highly profitable year for all who participated in Provine's PTA.

Provine's PTA Board makes plans for a forthcoming Parent-Teacher Association meeting at Provine.

Provine's debate coach Mrs. McDonald sits ponderingly at the rostrum during her tenure as Senate Parliamentarian.

Provine Furnishes Youth Congress Pages

"Mr. Speaker . . . There is a quorum present." Thus, with the advice and consent of the Mississippi Speech Association, the Nineteenth Session of Youth Congress convened. In its midst were the politicians of tomorrow—navigating a mythical ship of state in the actual chambers of the state capitol.

The Provine delegation supported McComb's Eddie Wilmesherr for speaker, who edged out Bill Harper from Murrah by five votes. They also went on record as supporting Senate Bill Five, a controversial bill based on "good faith" laws of states. Mr. Andrew Jones, director, said in summation of the three day meet, "It was the best ever."

Delegates Paul Jordan, Jeff Livesay, and Billy Case contemplate a pending bill before the House.

"Who does that guy think he is, wanting me to come and shine his shoes!" quips John Ellis to fellow page Debbie Gilley.

Provine Leads State With 18 Finalists

With a total of eighteen National Merit Semi-Finalists Provine distinguished itself as having the largest group in the state. As a result of the school's excellent educational facilities and constant encouragement by teachers and counselors, the students were prepared to participate in the taxing Scholastic Aptitude Test, a finalist qualifying examination. Semi-finalists found that with their honor came the responsibility of completing numerous financial and personal information forms. Another task which confronted them was the evaluation of material received from colleges and universities throughout the country. The importance of his position was impressed on each individual as he worked to choose his future college and career.

Provinians Cop Diversified Honors

Outstanding Provinians received certificates, medals, and plaques from various organizations throughout the state. Such clubs as the Rotary Club, Pilot Club, Sertoma Club and DAR presented their various awards to those students whom they thought most deserving.

Other Provine students received honors of a different nature. These Provinians were elected officers in state organizations such as JCL, MAT, MASC, SLAM, and State Red Cross.

Besides the honors which these awards afforded, their recipients found that they were now in positions of leadership which entailed numerous responsibilities.

Speakers Offer Variety in Assemblies

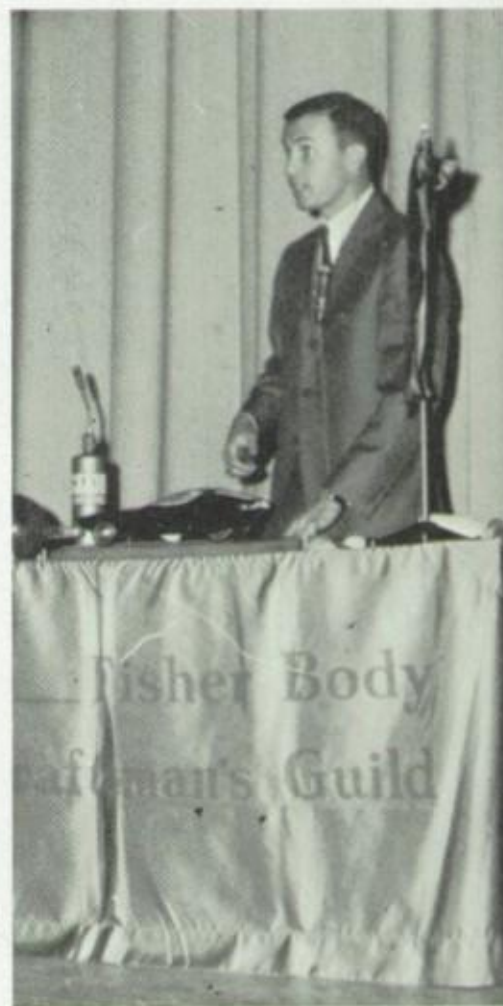

During the 1965-66 school session Provinians attended numerous assemblies, club meetings, and banquets where they were entertained by various historians, legislators, folk singers, and speakers. Highlights of the assemblies were the popular Petticoat Minstrels and Provine's Ramblers. Speaking at the monthly meetings of the Junior Historical Society were State Treasurer William Winter and Hinds County Representative Russell Davis. Featured at the Quill and Scroll initiation and the Mu Alpha Theta banquet were J. Edgar Simmons of Mississippi College and Commissioner Derwood Boyles. Each event this year proved beneficial to every person who attended because of the outstanding quality of the speeches and entertainment.

Rambler Presents

11th Annual Who's Who

Ancient splendor and modern talent were brought together with amazing success at the Rambler's annual presentation of their Who's Who contest winners. With "the glory that was Greece and the grandeur that was Rome" as the theme of the night's activities, the Provine stage was transformed into the scene of classical beauty and culture. Highlighting the program was the revealing of the fourteen couples from each class who the students felt best exemplified their ideal qualities. The senior class was given the added distinction of electing a Most Dignified Senior Couple. Provine talent added to the enjoyment of the evening, making the presentation typical of the school's excellent productions.

Everyone had a favorite, but for the first time in eleven years a tradition would be broken—the judges' ballots, not the students' vote, would discern who was Provine's most beautiful.

Against abstract scenery of black and white, sixteen lovely ladies competed in sports wear, school clothes, and evening gowns. In the end, Linda Clark won the title and four runners-up were named beauties—Becky Buck, Lavonne Dickard, Shirley Hagerman, and Ann Shows.

But the best part of all was the fact that the same five girls were the leaders of the popular vote which had named them as contestants.

CLASSES

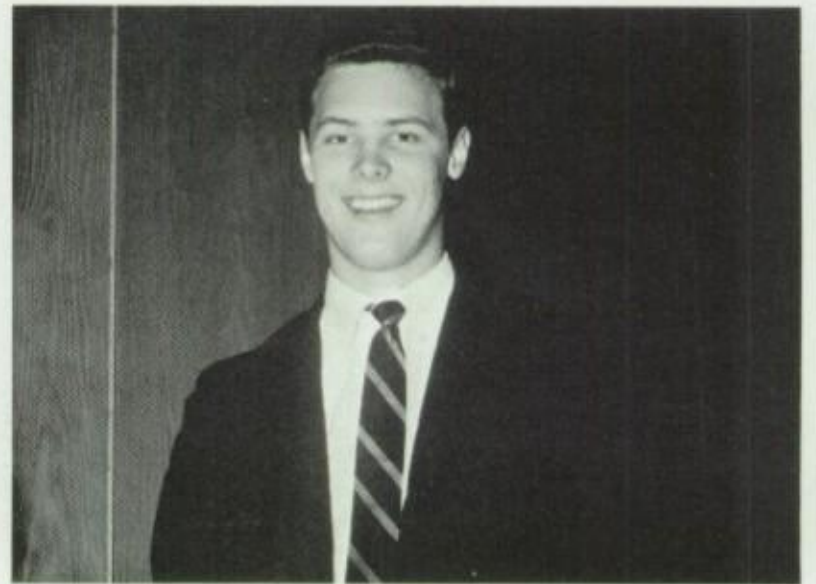

Seniors Glory in Final Year

Yesterday, today, and tomorrow . . . Sports' victories over the previously unbeaten; deafeningly exhilarating pep rallies; the sound of shuffling feet and stifled cries of determination on Concentration Day; Shakespeare and term papers; crowded, laugh-filled halls; talking with counselors about college; gossip sessions at the water fountain; bumper-to-bumper in the parking lot. Such a variety of activities clamored for patience and energy, but the evident underlying thought was—This year is special.

Today the unique year is gone. The senior faces his Tomorrow with a profound confidence in himself which is soundly based upon his Yesterday at Provine.

Seniors Number 549 to Lead State

For the fourth straight year Provine's senior class is the largest graduating class in Mississippi, once again proving that Provine seniors are not only the largest but also the greatest class.

Juniors Find Class Individuality

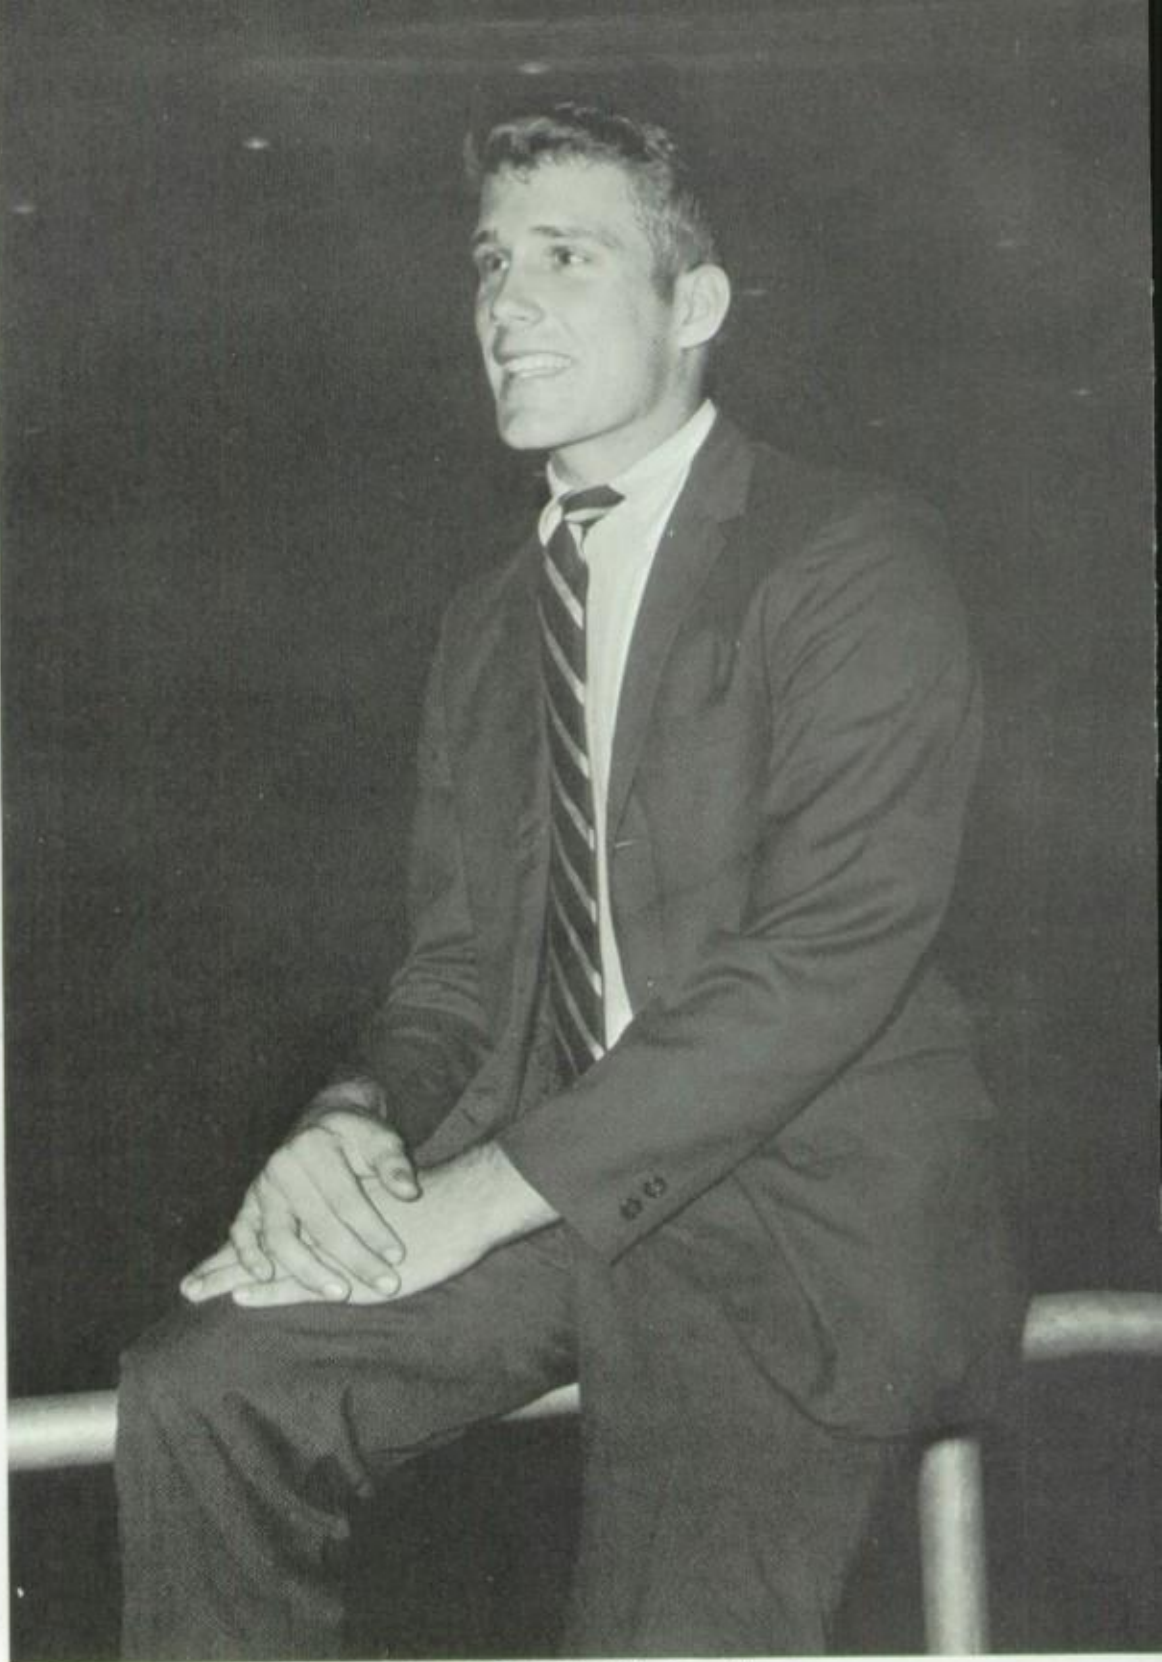

Yesterday, today, and tomorrow—for the junior, yesterday was gone, he had now obtained today, and tomorrow was yet a glowing promise of even better things.

The junior was really a foundation to Province. He served as a link between the seniors and sophomores. Though he lacked the confidence and maturity of a senior, he was more sure of himself than the sophomore and dared responsibility to subdue him.

As the year progressed the junior proved to himself and to others that he was a true Provinian. The loyalty he had for his school was there, instilled in him, never to be taken away.

Sophs Discover Brave, New World

Sophomore—the enchanted passkey that opened the door of the magic World of Tomorrow for some six-hundred fifty newcomers to Provine.

At first their new world awed them, but they soon came to accept and love it. Eagerly meeting each challenge, these initiates reaffirmed old friendships, sought to establish new ones, and won the respect of teachers by accepting the responsibility which was now theirs.

Looking back, the sophomores could be justly proud of their accomplishments. Each mistake and disappointment was overcome by their determination to succeed in their every endeavor.

Looking forward, they could chart their course for a new year, a new challenge, and a new Tomorrow.

1966 Aries Ends With Climactic Thought

When the sounds of slamming lockers and ringing bells are but mere echoes in the chambers of our minds, Provine High School will remain.

We lived, we loved, we achieved, we envisioned, and for each contribution we reaped our just reward.

The sophomores anticipated the future with great expectations, the juniors scanned their brave new world, and the seniors—that long thin grey line—marched onward to the sounds of distant trumpets.

Provine High School has been our Yesterday, it is now our Today, and it is the key to all our Tomorrows.

Cathy,
 The many times
 you've come to speech
 class I've enjoyed you.
 Seriously, Provine is a great school to teach in and it's hard working and active students like you that make Provine what it is.
 Best of luck in the future, and if you're in the McComb area
 come to see me.
 "Miss Bond"

Cathy
My Mommy told me to watch out for girls like you, but I find
there to find extremely hard to find. Love
Russell

Cathy,
To a real
Great friend and she I admire a lot.
May God Bless You Always
L. G. G. G.

Cathy,
Over the years your friendship
has meant so much to you.
I only wish we had a richer chance at class aspersions.
I hope you have the best life has to offer. Be Good!
Parker
Parker

To one of the greatest and sweetest girls I have known. Love ya.
Allen Lewis

Cathy,
You're a darling girl
with a precious personality.
I know you'll go far in the future with your talent. Lots of love,
Kendra Moore

To a great gal who has made my heart pound so "HA!" You're one of the great friends I have stay as sweet as ever
and so lovable
Remember "SHAKY'S"

Cathy,
I have enjoyed knowing you
these past few years.
You are a very
talented person.
Love ya
Benson

Remember Beacham
and Beackam
Love always
"Jude's Killer of Proven"
HA!
Rozoff.

Cathy,
 Keep that wonderful smile &
 those beautiful looks and you will really go! Love, ALAN

May the best of luck be with you for ever, you are real sweet girl stay
 that way
 Morris Parker

Cathy,
 here it is finally!
 Our Senior year. It was classy, all except the friends. You have helped great as you to be as good luck always.
 Love,
 Connie
 Arnet

Cathy one of the you're and sweetest
 cutest and know
 girls to know you want to wish you
 the best in life.
 the best in school
 P.S. the writing, it's excuse the writing, it's rounded in here.

Chere to a great nut! You are one of the greatest ever - stay that way. God bless you always. Love
 Cathy!

You're a very sweet and friendly girl whom
 I respect deeply.
 God bless you
 in all you do

Cathy,
 knowing such an outgoing girl in our possession gives me
 confidence in you that you will give the best of life to the world.

To a wonderful "Yankee".
It's been great knowing you. "Yankee"
and all you're a beautiful girl, may you always be the same. Stick around Jackson and you'll be as southern as fried chicken.
Best of luck in all you do
Love
Jerry Thrack

To a real girl I need to get to know better.

Maybe we will.
Dawn Williams

Cathy, real great you a real great girl and I've enjoyed knowing you. Always stay as sweet as you are now. Best wishes,
Joan Eagan

Cathy,
It's been great
knowing you here.
It's too bad we haven't don't have any classes together!
Good luck always,
Jeannie
